U.N. Will Probe Hungary Revolt

Committee Of 5 Nations Set Up; Moscow Balks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 10 (AP)—A special truth committee to investigate the tragedy of Hungary's abortive revolution was created today by the U.N. Assembly despite Soviet refusal to co-operate in any manner.

The Assembly voted 59-8 for a resolution introduced by the United States and 23 other U. N. members setting up a committee composed of Australia, Ceylon, Denmark, Tunisia and Uruguay.

The committee was ordered to search out the facts anywhere it could and report back as soon as possible. It cannot go inside Hungary nor any red-hed country since Moscow continued its stubborn policy of defying U.N. actions and resolutions on Hungary.

Librarian Who Defied Probers Adjudged Guilty

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Librarian Mary Knowles was convicted today on 52 charges of contempt of Congress.

Mrs. Knowles, 46, whose employment by the Quaker-operated library at Plymouth Meeting, Pa., has split the village into opposing camps, was adjudged guilty by U. S. Dist. Judge Ross Rizley of Oklahoma, sitting here as a visiting judge.

Rizley, who conducted the trial Monday without a jury, set Jan. 18 as the tentative date for sentencing. The maximum penalty is a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Senators Seek H-Test Facts

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Senators inquiring into disarmament possibilities decided informally today to seek an official opinion on whether an H-bomb can be exploded in secret.

They also agreed to ask for an official opinion on the extent to which nuclear and thermonuclear explosions affect the public health.

A controversy over these questions highlighted the 1956 presidential campaign when Adlai E. Stevenson proposed that the United States take the lead to end testing of the superbomb.

Stevenson contended there is no way to explode a superbomb without its being detected. Therefore, he said, the United States would know if Russia continued testing and could then resume its own tests.

He also contended the radiation from bomb tests endangers health.

Stevenson's statements were disputed by Republican campaigners.

Acheson Hits Eisenhower's Mideast Plan

"Another Approach To Brink" Of War, Ex-Secretary Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Dean Acheson, cracking with criticism, said today the Eisenhower administration explanation of what it wants Congress to do about the Middle East "frightens me to death."

Acheson testified for nearly four hours in a House Foreign Affairs Committee hearing on the President's military-economic plan to block Red expansion in the Middle East.

"The interpretation Mr. Dulles puts upon what he is asking frightens me to death," Acheson declared. He said Secretary of State Dulles was indulging in "reckless talk" that "sounds perilously like another approach to the brink" of war.

The former secretary of state in the Truman administration lambasted Eisenhower's proposals for standby military authority and economic aid. "Vague, uncertain and inadequate" were words he used to describe them.

Party-Line Row

He said they "break little new ground and leave untouched great areas in need of policy."

His caustic comments touched off a party-line row among Republican and Democratic committeemen. Things reached the point where Chairman Gordon (D-Ill.) put out a statement saying:

"We can not solve these problems on a partisan basis. ... I will do everything I can to assure a nonpartisan approach to our task."

Acheson called for "vigorous action," including stationing of a United Nations police force in the Mideast to prevent Israel and Egypt from continuing their border raids. Such a force should be big enough to deter such attacks, he said, and to hold off any attack against itself until aid—in the form, perhaps, of the U.S. Marines and the 6th U.S. Fleet—could come.

Urges Concurrent Resolution

Acheson said Eisenhower already had all the authority he needs to deal with the situation. But if Congress acts—and he said it should do something now to avoid embarrassing the President before the world—it should do no more than adopt a concurrent resolution.

This legislation, not requiring a presidential signature, should do this, Acheson said: declare U.S. interest in Mideast security, political stability and economic progress, and pledge response to any presidential suggestions for military, political and economic support.

Some Democrats indicated they might try to draft a resolution along the lines Acheson suggested.

London Hears Queen To Be Invited To U.S.

LONDON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Daily Mirror said tonight President Eisenhower will soon invite Queen Elizabeth II to America for a state visit in October.

The newspaper said the reason for the visit will be in celebration of the 350th anniversary of the founding of the first British colony in North America — Jamestown, Va.

"Discussions between the White House and Buckingham Palace on the visit have been taking place for some weeks," the Mirror said.

"The official invitation will be handed to the Queen when Mr. Winthrop Aldrich, the retiring American ambassador, takes leave of her at the end of the month."

Republicans Note Estes' Efforts To Re-Elect Ike

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), No. 2 man on beaten last Nov. 6, got an honorary bid today to the Eisenhower inaugural ceremonies.

That was all right, but appended to it was this notice:

"This honorary invitation to the inaugural ceremonies comes to you in appreciation of your efforts to re-elect President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon."

"We believe it will be a welcome memento to this historic occasion," Kefauver told a reporter. "I didn't know that's what we were doing, but maybe it was."

The notice attached to the invitation listed the major events of the inaugural weekend, with ticket prices, and said:

"For further information, consult your Republican ticket committee."

Other Democratic senators received similar notices.

Kefauver's colleague, Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.), first told about them. Gore, who made dozens of speeches for his party's ticket in the campaign last fall, read the notice into the record of the roads subcommittee hearing at which he was presiding.

"In appreciation of this," Gore commented with a smile, "I will recess these hearings today until after the inauguration."

The bullet struck Beverly in the left shoulder, ricocheted to her left jaw, bounced downward into her neck where it entered her jugular vein. The bloodstream carried it into her heart.

Alabama Bombings Raise Race Tension

Six Negro Ministers Arrested In Atlanta

New bombings in Alabama Thursday emphasized the growing racial tension throughout the South over attempts to desegregate schools and public buses.

The blasting of four Negro churches and residences of two antisegregation ministers in Montgomery brought an order halting all bus service in Alabama's capital city.

Gas Grenades Break Up Paris Political Rally

PARIS, Jan. 10 (AP)—A political rally which former Premier Pierre Mendes-France was to address ended in tumult tonight when tear gas grenades were showered at the speaker's rostrum.

The meeting, in the huge Sports Palace, was on behalf of a Radical-Socialist—left of center—candidate in a Paris district parliamentary election next Sunday about 5,000 persons were in the building.

One grenade started a fire on the speaker's platform. As flames dashed into the arena, fist fights broke out between Mendes-France's followers and his hecklers.

The former Premier had been expected to assail the policies of Socialist Premier Guy Mollet in an address advertised under the slogan "Peace in Algeria."

It was not immediately known who threw the tear gas bombs. Some blamed Communists. Others blamed the followers of Pierre Poujade, right-wing antitaxation leader.

Scores of helmeted riot police surrounded the rostrum to protect Mendes-France and other notables. Fights still raged in the audience.

The former Premier signalled the end of the meeting by asking everyone to join him singing "La Marseillaise."

Third Firm Raises Price Of Newsprint

MONTREAL, Jan. 10 (AP)—St. Lawrence Corp. will raise its price of newsprint $4 a ton, effective March 1, it was announced today.

The increase is in line with those announced during the past week by two other Canadian firms, Abitibi Power & Paper Co. and Consolidated Paper Corp.

The new price of the three companies will be $134 a ton, delivered in New York. The last general increase in newsprint was $4 a ton at the start of 1956.

Canadian mills account for about 8 per cent of the newsprint used by U. S. newspapers.

Church Walls Blown In

The four Negro churches had walls blown in, windows shattered and other damages.

Mobile police said a bomb caused slight damage to the Mobile home of Walter Johnson, 51-year-old Negro, who with his wife, daughter and her five children escaped injury.

J. L. Leflore, a Mobile Negro leader, said a mass meeting of Mobile Negroes to discuss bus desegregation was postponed indefinitely Thursday.

Redefector Seized On Kidnap Charge

BERLIN, Jan. 10 (AP)—William Henry Starr, an American civilian who defected to Communist East Germany in 1954, was picked up in West Berlin today by German police and booked on a charge of kidnapping.

Starr, 33, of Westville, N. J., secretly slipped into West Berlin on New Year's Day and gave himself up to U. S. Army authorities.

Police refused to discuss the case except to say they have had a warrant for Starr's arrest dating back two years. At the time of Starr's defection, the U. S. Army, command in Berlin said Starr and his brother James, had kidnaped a German and taken him to East Germany.

New British Leader Due To Visit U.S.

LONDON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Bristling with confidence, Harold Macmillan took over as prime minister tonight and opened the way for early talks with President Eisenhower to heal the rift in British-American relations.

There were indications the White House was dusting off the "welcome" mat denied Sir Anthony Eden after the Suez invasion. Washington officials said Macmillan will be welcome whenever he decides to visit Eisenhower, a long-time friend.

Macmillan served notice he will not call national elections, as the Labor party has demanded. But it seems certain there will be a shakeup in the Conservative Cabinet.

Lloyd Likely Casualty

One of the casualties of the Eden regime is likely to be Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd. He is identified in British minds as one of the masterminds who counted on the Suez invasion to topple, not strengthen, President Nasser of Egypt.

Mentioned as a possible successor is Duncan Sandys, who, as supply minister, has been chief government administrator of Britain's atomic program. He is a son-in-law of Sir Winston Churchill.

Macmillan supported the Egyptian invasion, but did not fall for all the criticism that centered on Eden. And many Conservatives, in urging Macmillan for the post over Richard A. Butler, apparently felt that the party cause would be served best by naming a man who did not in effect renounce Eden's works.

Giant Bomber, Aerial Tanker Crash; 13 Dead

ANDOVER, N.B., Jan. 10 (AP)—A huge B52—one of America's newest and most potent bombers—crashed in New Brunswick hills today after an air explosion while the pilot was partially hooded to test his reflexes.

At least six crewmen were killed. Two others were missing and presumed dead. Only one man survived.

The big jet bomber, built at a cost of eight million dollars crashed while returning to Loring Air Force Base in nearby Limestone, Maine, on a routine training flight.

The Air Force in Washington said the Stratofortress was piloted by an officer recently assigned to the heavy bomber wing. He was partially hooded to test his ability to recover control of the aircraft after it had been deliberately placed in an "unusual" position.

Lt. Joe L. Church, copilot, of Charlotte, N.C., who survived, was quoted in the Air Force report as saying that after the eight-jet swept-wing bomber had been placed in the unusual position—either a steep climb or a steep downward glide—he heard a loud noise and found himself alone in the air.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 10 (AP)—Five crewmen died tonight when an aerial tanker crashed on landing and burst into flames at Bergstrom Air Force Base near here.

Four members of the crew of the B29 were injured, one seriously. The impact of the crash threw them clear of the plane.

The plane had been on a refueling mission. It made its approach for a landing and crashed as it neared the ground. Cause of the crash has not been determined.

Winter's Worst Weather Leaves At Least 15 Dead

New England and New York State got the brunt of the storm after it left the Midwest. Parts of the state had up to nine inches of new snow, and near blizzard conditions were reported. Many airline flights were canceled.

"The mayor of Syracuse, Donald Mead, declared a 'technical state of emergency' as a 14-hour storm piled 6 inches of snow on top of a previous fall of 11 to 14 inches.

Michigan's severest snowstorm on the winter caused closing of hundreds of rural schools, with side roads blocked with drifts up to five feet high. In one traffic jam, about 200 trucks and automobiles were stalled on U.S. Rt. 31 near Benton Harbor.

Liner Tilts Leaving Drydock, Injuring 12

HOBOKEN, N.J., Jan. 10 (AP)—A luxury liner tipped slightly portside early today as she was lowered into the Hudson River from a floating drydock.

The 16,844-ton Norwegian-American liner Oslofjord listed 27 degrees when part of the drydock suddenly sank, tilting the ship, a spokesman for the dockyard said.

At nightfall the liner was re-floated on an even keel.

At least a dozen dock workers and sailors were injured. Two men were detained in St. Mary's Hospital with possible fractures.

The Oslo-New York liner, scheduled for a winter Caribbean cruise tomorrow, touched a wooden drydock wingwall but did not ram it.

Jarred out of their sleep by the ship's tilt were 316 crewmen, including some 40 women. As the order to abandon ship went out over the ship's public address system, three crewmen jumped into the partially flooded drydock. They were fished out quickly.

Winter's Worst Weather Leaves At Least 15 Dead

The northern part of the nation got its worst weather of the winter Thursday, with frigid temperatures and heavy snow.

At least 15 deaths were reported from the storm, mostly due to exposure or over exertion while shoveling snow.

Roads were blocked in some areas, and were hazardous in many parts of the North. Hundreds of rural schools were closed.

The snowstorm moved from the Midwest into the East and was followed by cold arctic air. The cold air in Canada pushed the temperature to 65 below zero at Matheson, Ontario, one of the lowest readings in that province's history.

Communism And Inflation Still Threats

Ike, For Most Part, Stands Pat On Past Recommendations

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower summoned the American people today to stand "vigilant guard" against ever-threatening inflation at home and the menace abroad of "armed imperialistic dictatorship."

Reporting to Congress and the country on the State of the Union at this moment in history, Eisenhower urged business and labor leaders to "think well on their responsibility to the American people" and go easy on price and wage boosts that could increase inflationary pressures.

"The national interest," he said, "must take precedence over temporary advantages which may be secured by particular groups at the expense of all the people."

While the pursuit of human liberty, welfare and progress "has brought us to an unprecedented peak in our economic prosperity," the President said, the danger of inflation "is always present."

On the international scene, he said, the existence of a strongly armed imperialistic dictatorship is a continued threat to the security and peace of the free world and "thus to our own." America, he said, cannot stand "alone and isolated."

Undemonstrative Audience

Dressed in a conservative gray business suit, Eisenhower stood for 33 minutes before a combined, undemonstrative Senate - House session in the klieg - lit House chamber.

With television and radio transmitting his words over national networks, he took a sort of mellow, moderate, unexpectant approach to problems and issues of the day. For solutions, he pretty much stood pat on things he has recommended in the past.

There were brief warmed-over bids for such things as a school construction bill, civil rights legislation, and the authority requested only last Saturday to use American troops, if need be, against any Communist aggression in the Mideast.

There were passing allusions to farm legislation, defense, the administration of justice, a postal rate boost, development of natural resources, amending the labor laws, public works.

Permanent Entry To Refugees

Eisenhower called briefly, too, for:

A law granting permanent entry to Hungarian refugees, authority for the United States to join the Organization for Trade Cooperation, approval of full U. S. participation in the International Atomic Energy Agency, and an appreciable increase in funds for the U.S. Information Agency.

Here and there Eisenhower did spice his report with a bit of something new.

Without spelling out details on the question of disarmament, Eisenhower declared:

"Indeed, we are willing to enter any reliable agreement which would reverse that trend toward ever more devastating nuclear weapons; reciprocally provide against the possibility of surprise attack; mutually control the outer space missile and satellite development; and make feasible a lower level of armaments and armed forces."

Main Points Made By Ike

(By The Associated Press)

President Eisenhower, in his State of the Union message Thursday, made these main points:

BOOM TIMES — Prosperity in America is at a record peak, but inflation is a continuing threat. Government must not be spendthrift, and private groups should not press irresponsibly for special gain.

RED MENACE — The Russian dictatorship still threatens the free world, but America's security force, which must remain strong, is a major deterrent to war.

MONEY, CREDIT — Congress should set up a commission to study how adequately the nation's financial system serves the economy.

FARM — There are grounds for gratification in the farm picture, but farm families must share more fully in national prosperity.

SCHOOLS — High priority must be given to federal aid for school construction, uncomplicated by the question of racial integration.

RIGHTS — Congress should pass the program which Eisenhower asked last year, authorizing more federal activity to protect any whose rights may be violated.

Ike Message Gives Critics Little Ammo

Lacking In Meat Of Controversy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Congressional critics found practically nothing in President Eisenhower's State of the Union message to send their blood pressure rising.

Many senators and representatives who listened to Eisenhower's 33-minute address commented afterward that it was notably lacking in the meat of controversy.

Critical remarks centered chiefly on domestic issues, with civil rights, school construction and inflation drawing most attention.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) appeared to sum up the reaction of many members with these words: "A message that would be hard to disagree with, largely because it was so general."

Some sample comments: Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas: "The President's message reflects a comprehensive and thoughtful analysis of the problems which confront our people today and the broad policies which he believes suitable to the resolution of such problems. I prefer not to give any hasty appraisal of the validity of his analysis."

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California: "It was a thoughtful, forthright and constructive State of the Union speech. A substantial part of the President's recommendations will be implemented by the Congress."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.): "An eloquent address that dealt with inflation 'in a very statesmanlike fashion' but contained 'a lot of hogwash' about the farm situation. Russell felt the President's civil rights ideas would 'aggravate rather than cure.'"

House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts: "A realistic appraisal of our domestic and international policies for a continued peace and prosperity."

House Speaker Rayburn: "One of those kind of usual things."

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.): "He posed a lot of problems without giving the answers."

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.): "The President with his usual skill and inspiring presentation . . . gives us renewed confidence and renewed hope."

Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore.): "The President did not go into detail concerning his school aid program. This will be a key to the real intentions of his second term. Unless adequate and generous funds are provided for new school construction, we will be short-changing the next generation."

Sen. Byrd (D-Va.): "I regret that he recommended increased spending in so many fields because I agree with him that there is grave danger of inflation."

Communism

This was the first time the President has spoken of curbing missiles and satellites along with nuclear weapons.

He chose to drop from his prepared text a line that "we are prepared to make further proposals in the United Nations" on disarmament. However, officials said he did this merely to save time and that the proposals would be made.

The outstandingly new proposal for domestic consumption was a call to Congress to set up a special commission to undertake a "vital inquiry" into the "nature, performance and adequacy of our financial system." He mentioned specifically the mechanism governing monetary and credit policy.

This looked like something of an attempt to grab the ball from Democrats in Senate and House, already getting set to delve into administration monetary and credit policies. Complaints have been sounding among some of them that the administration's "tight money" policy is hurting small business expansion and home and school construction.

Chain Reaction Wrecks

DETROIT, Jan. 9 (AP)—Hampered by wet, slippery pavement and mud-splattered windshields, 37 cars were damaged in 12 separate accidents today on Detroit's West-East Ford Expressway.

Eighteen cars were too badly damaged to be driven away and caused traffic pileups awaiting tow trucks. There were 12 cars in one chain reaction smashup, seven in another and five in a third.

Work Not Yet Finished, 'Bomber' Says In Letter

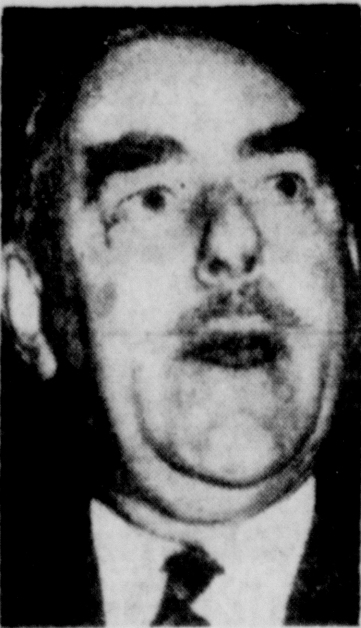

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Journal-American today published a letter attributed to the "mad bomber" in which he said his work is not yet finished.

The newspaper printed an open letter to the bomber Dec. 26, asking him to give himself up and promising to print his side of the story.

The bomber, blamed for planting 32 homemade bombs in the city in 16 years, scorned the suggestion.

"I read your paper of Dec. 26," the letter said. "Where were you people when I was asking for help? Placing myself in custody would be stupid. Do not insult my intelligence . . ."

"Before I am finished, the Con. Edison Co. will wish that they had brought to me in their teeth what they cheated me out of."

IKE PLAN 'VAGUE'—Dean Acheson, secretary of state during the Truman administration, testifies before the House Foreign Affairs committee during a hearing on a proposed resolution to give President Eisenhower congressional approval for military and economic moves in the Middle East. Author Blind For 10 Years Regains Sight

MANSFIELD, Tex., Jan. 10 (AP)—Still marveling at his newly regained eyesight, John Howard Griffin today was anxious to start reading the best-selling novel he wrote during his 10 years of blindness.

The 36-year-old author of "The Devil Rides Outside" was walking from his parents' home to his workshop near here yesterday when he suddenly regained his vision.

"It was a terrible shock. I received no jar, no bump. . . Suddenly everything looked like red sand in front of my eyes," he said. "Then I saw the outline of the door. I went inside and called a Mansfield doctor who rushed right over. I was near collapse."

Griffin was able to identify the color of the doctor's coat when he arrived. He also was able to read a note the physician pulled from his pocket.

Griffin said an eye specialist told him that a 12-year-old blockage of the circulation of blood to the optic nerve had been broken, enabling him to see again.

While serving as an Air Force sergeant in the Pacific during World War II, Griffin suffered a concussion when a B24, loaded with bombs, exploded. His vision gradually faded until he was totally blind by 1946.

Examinations by specialists in Fort Worth today indicated his vision should clear completely within a month, he said.

The large, husky author saw his wife and two children, Johnny, 1, and Susan, 2, for the first time.

"You don't know what it is for a father to see his children for the first time. They are both much more beautiful than I ever suspected," he said.

Griffin and his wife, Elizabeth Ann, 21, were married in 1953 after he had been blind seven years.

More Disabled Vet Aid No. 1 Legion Goal

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., Jan. 10 (AP)—An American Legion executive today listed increased aid to veterans with service-connected disabilities at the top of the Legion's legislative program for the 85th Congress.

Michael Mellett, Brooklyn, N.Y., national field representative for the Legion, described the proposal as "a cost of living increase" in monthly compensation payments.

He added, however, that the exact boost to be sought has not yet been determined.

Mellett made the statements at the close of a two-day rehabilitation conference of the Legion's area "B" auxiliary which covers New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

"My days on earth are numbered. Most of my adult life has been spent in bed. My one consolation is that I can strike back—even from my grave—for the tardy acts against me. "Calling me names is just frustrated stupidity in action." The letter, printed in block letters, was signed "F. P." It was mailed "special delivery" from Mount Vernon, a city in Westchester County, just north of New York City, at 9:30 p.m., Dec. 27. "It's authenticity," said the newspaper, "has been carefully checked by the most competent authorities." The bomber has sent notes similar in content over the years. The letter listed nine bombs he had planted in the past year, but declared a "truce is on."

State Lashed By Gale Winds; Hunter Missing

(By The Associated Press)

Gale force winds played hob with ships, airplanes and duck hunters in Maryland Thursday, causing one probable death and considerable property damage.

Winds of 65 m.p.h.—whole gale force—whipped across much of the State causing most trouble on or near Chesapeake Bay and in Baltimore Harbor.

The highest gust locked was over 70 m.p.h. in Annapolis, the Weather Bureau reported. Hurricane force winds began at 72 m.p.h.

The Weather Bureau said the winds were part of a storm system which dumped heavy snows over the Northeast and which will usher in extremely cold Arctic air Friday.

Temperatures were expected to be in the teens throughout the state early Friday and remain below freezing most of the day.

A duck hunter was missing and believed drowned after his boat capsized in the strong winds on the Patuxent River about nine miles above the Patuxent River Bridge. He was identified by the Calvert County sheriff's office as John Howard of Calvert County.

One group of duck hunters was taken from an Anne Arundel County blind by a Navy helicopter and two other parties were rescued off Turkey Point by a large launch.

The winds caused five ships to break their mooring lines in Baltimore Harbor. All were shepherded back to safety by tugs. At least three other ocean-going vessels had to be helped by tugs when they were in danger of being blown aground.

The gale winds overturned three small airplanes at Friendship International Airport, one while it was attempting to take off. The pilot escaped injury.

2,250 Dangerous Detonator Caps Taken By Thieves

CHICAGO, Jan. 10 (AP)—Thieves who stole 2,250 high explosive detonator caps last night may be courting death.

The dangerous, cylinder-like caps, the size of a pencil tip eraser, were taken from a powder magazine at the Zenith Radio Corp. plant.

Company officials warned the devices could be set off under heat, electric shock or heavy impact and even static electricity generated by a person's body, if they are removed from foil covers.

The caps are manufactured by Zenith for the armed forces.

Soviet 'Volunteers' Invited By Yemen

BONN, Germany Jan. 10 (AP)—The Yemen charge d'affaires, A. R. Albaydany, today invited the Soviet Union and other nations to send "volunteers" to aid his country against Britain.

At a news conference in the Yemen Ministry here, he said that "volunteers" would be "welcomed."

He said that "several thousand volunteers" had already offered their services, including men from both West and Communist East Germany.

Bows To Cruiser, Winds Up In Jail

PORTLAND, Maine, Jan. 10 (AP)—The man was a familiar figure at police headquarters so with tongue in cheek Detective Donald H. MacDougal asked him what he was doing in jail.

"It's like this," he began. "Yesterday afternoon I took off my hat and made a low bow to the police cruiser as it went by. The sergeant thought I was panhandling and arrested me."

The charge against John Donahue, 43, was intoxication. He pleaded guilty and got 30 days.

'Trigger' Burke Doomed Again

ALBANY, N.Y., Jan. 10 (AP)—Elmer (Trigger) Burke, notorious gunman who figured in the aftermath of the Boston Brinks robbery, today was doomed by New York's highest court, for the second time to die in the electric chair.

The Court of Appeals set the week of Feb. 18 for Burke's execution at Sing Sing for the 1952 shooting of Edward (Poochy) Walsh, a former pal.

The court previously had set last Aug. 16 as the date, but Burke's execution was stayed pending his appeal from his first-degree murder conviction to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Last Dec. 3, the Supreme Court refused to review Burke's conviction. He had protested that he had day.

NAACP Reports 'Police Terror'

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 10 (AP)—Police Chief John Polcyn was told last night that a "feeling of terror" has developed among Milwaukee's Negro residents as an outgrowth of the police search for the men who raped four white women in separate incidents in recent months.

Polcyn answered the statements of three leaders of the Milwaukee chapter of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People by saying, "our law-abiding Negro citizens need have no fear being on the streets of Milwaukee after dark."

"We have no other resource but to continue our actions until the right to walk on our streets in safety is assured to all women, regardless of race or color," Polcyn said.

The spokesmen called on Polcyn to discuss recent nightly roundups in which over 260 Negro youths were taken into custody for questioning in the rape investigation. A group of 26 was picked up last night.

Approximately 99 per cent of the body's calcium content is in the bones and teeth.

Ladies Day At Farm Bureau Convention

BALTIMORE, Jan. 10 (AP)—Although the women dominated activities today at the annual Maryland Farm Bureau convention, the youngsters, vegetable growers and tobacco farmers also got some work done.

This, primarily was Ladies' Day. The Associated Women of Farm Bureau first elected Mrs. David Young of Middletown, Frederick County, and Mrs. Holly Albaugh, also of Frederick County, as district directors to Farm Bureau.

Later, they attended a fashion show.

Officers were elected by the vegetable growers and by the Associated Young People.

The 400 persons attending the Maryland Tobacco Growers' Assn. meeting adopted a resolution unanimously disapproving Gov. McKeldin's proposal for a five cent cigarette tax. They said the tax would cause a decline in cigarette and leaf sales.

Dale Hess of Harford County told 350 vegetable growers that construction of the Marsh Whole-sale Market in Baltimore will begin within 90 days, provided the Park Board releases the land to the Board of Estimates.

He said that not only Maryland farmers will benefit from this modern facility. It also will furnish the means for neighboring states to bring high quality produce to Baltimore consumers.

Tomorrow, the 3,000 farmers attending the meeting will hear Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md) and John Lynn, National Farm Bureau legislative director, review 1957 Farm Bureau plans for the 85th Congress.

New officers elected by the Associated Young People for 1957 included: James Voss, Denton, president; James Montgomery, Jamsville, Frederick County, vice-president; Kitty Martenis, Elkton, secretary; Keith Meyers was elected national committeeman.

Elected by the vegetable growers were: John B. Ford, Hyde, Baltimore County, president; Robert Williams, Salisbury, vice-president; Andrew Duncan, College Park, secretary-treasurer; Theodore Schmick, Preston, Caroline County, new director; Hess, director to Maryland Farm Bureau board, and James Fuchs, Bethlehem, and Ben Todd, Dundalk, delegates to the Farm Bureau convention.

Wreckage Yields Grim Dividend

ROANOKE, Va., Jan. 10 (AP)—The battered wreckage of a Greyhound bus which last Friday carried seven persons to their death north of Lexington yielded a grim dividend today.

Greyhound officials here, where the demolished Scenicruiser awaits the scrap pile, received a call yesterday from the brother of Mrs. Nellie Mae Craft of Baltimore, who died Monday in Lexington's Stonewall Jackson Hospital.

The man said his sister always carried spare money in her shoes. "Will you check the wreckage," he asked.

Greyhound people again reexamined the twisted bus. They found a pair of shoes. In the toe of one, neatly wrapped in a handkerchief, was $70 in cash.

Substitute Federal Commissioner Quits

BALTIMORE, Jan. 10 (AP)—Morgan M. Buchner, appointed substitute U.S. commissioner last month, resigned from the post today.

Buchner, in his letter of resignation to Chief Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomsen, said he was quitting because he had been asked to serve as consul in a Federal income tax case.

Buchner had been appointed to handle cases when the regular U.S. commissioner, Ernest Volkart, was unavailable. The substitute position, which Buchner held, paid only about $300 a year. Still, a lawyer holding the post cannot practice law in a federal court.

Sealift To Resume

BREMERHAVEN, Jan. 10 (AP)—This U.S.-operated German port on the North Sea plans to resume its sealift of Hungarian refugees to the United States Jan. 19. The Gen. Leroy Eltinge, which inaugurated the first sealift that took nearly 5,000 Hungarians to the United States in December, will lead off the new one.

In England the word corn refers to wheat while in Scotland and Ireland it means oats.

Nation's School Shortage Rated As Emergency

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 10 (AP)—Rep. Richard E. Lankford (D-Md) said tonight that the shortage of school classrooms is the nation's "most serious domestic crisis" and should be treated by Congress as a national emergency.

Lankford said federal aid to education "has become necessary as the only way by which we can build enough schools fast enough to meet the growing needs of our school children."

The Annapolis congressman made his remarks in a speech prepared for delivery at a meeting of the Germantown School Parent-Teacher Assn.

Lankford said chances for school aid legislation at this session of Congress are "much better than last year." He said many legislators who voted against the aid bill "because of their feelings about racial integration now realize that federal aid is the only way to solve our schoolroom shortage."

Lankford said he will oppose any amendment forbidding aid to school districts which do not comply with the Supreme Court's anti-segregation order. He said any such amendment would "contradict the principle of federal aid without federal control."

Georgetown Names Woman Professor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Miss Helen E. Steinbinder, 34, today was named professor of law at Georgetown University, the first woman professor in the 87-year history of the university's law center.

Miss Steinbinder, a native of New York City, holds two master of arts degrees—in history and library science—from Columbia University and bachelor and master of laws degrees from Georgetown.

Butler And Beall Retain Assignments

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Maryland's two Republican senators have retained the same committee assignments they had during the last session of Congress.

Sen. Butler was renamed to the Judiciary and Interstate and Foreign Commerce committees, and Sen. Beall was returned to the Banking and Currency and District of Columbia committees.

Car Kills Worker

BALTIMORE, Jan. 10 (AP)—Edward Kleinsmith, 46-year-old City Sanitation Department worker, was struck by a car and killed today while loading trash into a city truck.

9,000 Won't Get New Auto Tags Until Fines Paid

BALTIMORE, Jan. 10 (AP)—Names of more than 9,000 persons have been flagged in Department of Motor Vehicle records, and they'll be barred from getting new Maryland auto license plates until they pay up old traffic fines.

Chief Traffic Magistrate Stanley Scherr said 9,237 are involved. They were charged with traffic violations and could not be located on warrants.

Most are persons who disregarded traffic tickets, changed addresses and failed to report the address change to licensing officials.

The 9,237 flags this year are more than double the approximately 4,500 on file at the end of 1955.

Snakes actually "walk" on their ribs by virtue of the large scale at the end of each.

Fourth School Bomb Scare Proves Dud

BALTIMORE, Jan. 10 (AP)—Some 2,250 students at two schools were evacuated today and later permitted to return to class after police determined that the area's fourth bomb scare in four days was—like the others—a dud.

Pupils at two adjoining schools in East Baltimore, schools 45 and 47 at Eastern and Linwood avenues, were ordered out today after police got an anonymous call from a man.

The caller said a bomb was hidden in the schools. Police believe it was a hoax as were the other calls but to be safe the children were ordered out until a search was completed.

Other scares this week were at the Lord Baltimore Hotel, Polytechnic Institute and Towson State Teachers College.

The Marquis de Lafayette brought about the adoption of the tricolor as the national flag of France in 1789.

Bus Runs Into Tree

GLEN BURNIE, Jan. 10 (AP)—David Hodges, 10, of Bay Ridge, suffered minor head injuries and three other persons were shaken up when a bus bound for Sunnyside School for the Handicapped at Pasadena ran into a tree today. The accident was at nearby Marley Park.

Ike To Set No Precedent By Taking Oath Privately

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower's decision to take the oath as president on a Sunday saves this country from a technical embarrassment it faced back in 1821.

Then it went a full day without a president.

The problem before James Monroe, getting ready for a second term, was the same as the one before Eisenhower. Monroe's first term, under the Constitution, ended on a noon Sunday. He waited until Monday to take the oath.

This presidential shortage was offset by Rutherford B. Hayes. He took his oath a day ahead of time, on a Saturday, so for one day we had President Hayes and President U.S. Grant.

As in the case with Monroe, the country survived.

But Eisenhower will be setting no precedent by taking the oath privately on a Sunday. Woodrow Wilson did the same thing in 1917.

Naturally everyone hopes for good weather when the public inauguration takes place a week from Monday. But it snowed here today, a reminder that weather often has been the leading character—usually in the role of villain—in these celebrations.

Rains have been frequent, and occasionally there has been snow.

It was only a few degrees above zero when Grant was sworn in in 1873. But oldtimers hereabouts still recall with a shiver what generally is conceded to be the worst weather in inaugural history.

In 1909 William Howard Taft ran into a blizzard so severe the West Point cadets, coming to march in the parade, had to go ahead of their train chopping up the telegraph poles that had fallen across the tracks.

Taft took the storm in stride. "I knew," he said, "it would be a cold day when I was made president of the United States."

Possibly the weather that came nearest to changing history blew in with William Henry Harrison in 1841.

It was a cold day, wintry and wet. Yet Harrison insisted on riding to the Capitol on a white charger—and he wore neither hat nor overcoat.

W. H. was old enough to know better, too. At 68, he was the oldest president ever inaugurated.

At the Capitol he took off on the longest inaugural speech ever delivered, an hour 40 minutes. It would have been longer, if Daniel Webster is to be believed. The speech contained many a reference to Roman history, and Webster, who edited the address, said he had killed off 17 Roman pro-consuls in his efforts to pare it down.

Later Harrison took part in three receptions. The strain of all this was believed to have taken a fearful toll. Within a month Harrison was dead of pneumonia.

We do so much whooping and hollering now that it's hard to believe there was a time when becoming a U.S. president was fairly simple. Tom Jefferson walked back to his boarding house, a block from the Capitol, after he was sworn in.

Shortage Of Clergymen Poses Church Problem

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
Wanted: 56,000 clergymen. Pulpits and other religious posts in America are going begging today for lack of ordained personnel to fill them.

And the situation is getting worse. "It has already reached the point of a real crisis for the churches," said Dr. Elmer Million, director of the Department of the Ministry for the National Council of Churches.

The shortage has hit Roman Catholic, Protestant and Jewish institutions, and the gap between supply and demand is increasing as population, church membership and activities swell.

"The production of priests is just not keeping up with the production of people," said the Rev. John J. Doherty, director of Notre Dame University's annual Catholic Vocational Institutes.

Based on appraisals by church authorities, the immediate, pressing shortages in the three faiths are conservatively put at these figures:

Roman Catholic: 30,000 priests.
Protestant: 25,000 ministers.
Jewish: 1,000 rabbis.

Says Dr. Riley B. Montgomery, president of the College of the Bible, Lexington, Ky.:

"At a time of great opportunity and responsibility we find ourselves without the qualified leadership in sufficient numbers to meet the challenge."

There are 305,000 churches and synagogues in the country, served by 222,000 clergymen, many of them serving two or more places of worship. About 130,000 other clergymen work in other church fields.

A survey among Protestant denominations by Dr. Million shows that at least 15,000 churches are seeking pastors, but can't get them. About 10,000 other Protestant posts, in education, social welfare, foreign missions, the chaplaincy and other church activities are vacant.

In the Roman Catholic Church, Father Doherty estimates the church could use another 50,000 priests. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Mathew Smith, editor of the Denver Register, estimates the immediate need at 24,000.

A median estimate of a current shortage of 30,000 is given by the Rev. Clement Borchers, superior general of the Glenmary Missionaries, Glendale, Ohio, which has studied the over-all problem.

"There are 110,000 towns in the United States without any priest," he said.

The country's approximately 300 Protestant, 235 Catholic and 17 Jewish seminaries are running at near capacity, but the annual spring crop of graduates lags far behind filling replacements and new posts.

"Every diocesan class that is ordained is swallowed right up," said the Rev. John E. Kelly of the National Catholic Welfare Conference. "It leaves us just as short in June as we were in May."

The continuing rapid expansion in church membership since World War II, the starting of thousands of new churches, especially in suburban areas, and expansion of various church programs has put a heavy strain on clerical manpower.

"On the whole, the church's ministry is not keeping up with its growth," Dr. Million said. "In the parish ministry, we are going backward. The ratio of clergy to the number they serve has widened steadily."

Besides the shortage of priests, the Roman Catholic Church has perhaps an even more acute need for teaching sisters in its vast parochial school system. Msgr. Smith estimates the shortage at 47,000.

For lack of them, the schools now employ 25,000 lay teachers, nearly a third of the total. Ten years ago, the proportion was only a tenth. Some new parochial schools have gone unused for months, seeking teachers.

Indications are that the need for clergymen is greatest in the Southeast, South and West. Msgr. Smith says it's particularly keen in large cities. In Denver, for instance, the Catholic Church has land for 35 new parishes, but cannot get priests to serve them.

Among Protestant denominations, the unfilled requests for clergymen runs like this: the Methodist Church needs 2,800 more ministers; the United Lutherans, 464; the American Baptists, 282; the Presbyterians, U.S.A., 450; the Disciples of Christ 561. And so on.

Jewish synagogues have an estimated 350 vacant pulpits, and need approximately 650 more rabbis in other posts.

The solution to the problem, as most authorities see it, lies in active programs to stimulate interest and knowledge about religious vocations among youth.

Even though seminaries are full Dr. Million said, experience shows that if candidates are available to be trained for the ministry, the churches will find means to provide the training facilities.

Monaco's Only Cannon Ready To Salute Heir

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
MONTE CARLO, Jan. 10 (AP)—Princess Grace of Monaco has decreed that her expected baby will not be named Hercule, Honore, Augustin or Hippolyte.

These are among the ancient names of Grimaldi that the blonde American princess decided would be a little hard for the Kellys of Philadelphia to pronounce.

Whatever the name, and whether boy or girl, the 370-acre principality is prepared to welcome the royal heir with the same noisy abandon that greeted the marriage of Prince Rainier and actress Grace Kelly last April. The baby is expected Jan. 20.

The only artillery piece in the country which will fire—the saluting gun atop the palace rock—has long been primed and ready. It will unleash a 20-gun greeting for a girl and 100 blasts for a boy.

Just as at the wedding, feverish preparations are being made by newspapermen. They are swarming into the principality and generously entertaining hospital nurses, telephone girls and palace guards who might have advance word on the birth.

To foil them, the handsome young Prince has ordered the guard around the palace tripled.

The hospital will be closely guarded when the princess is taken there. The Prince had a special telephone line installed to the hospital.

However, that is about as far as the Prince is allowed to go. Her Serene Highness, Princess Grace, has serenely taken charge of such other problems as decorating the nursery and preparing her hospital quarters.

She pronounced her hospital room "small but comfortable." Actually she will have four rooms—one for her, one for the baby, one for the Prince and one for a nurse and secretary. All were repainted blue since the princess didn't like the prevailing green.

Privately, the princess is reported to have expressed a preference for a boy while the Prince leans toward a girl.

The doctors won't say. However, they are certain it will be only one child—no twins. But if it should be twins, the first one on the scene—boy or girl—would inherit the red plush and gilt throne and preserve the country from falling under French rule and French income taxes.

The Romans some two thousand years ago discovered radiant heating. They circulated heated air beneath floors to give a warm surface.

Man With $13,500 Roll Chooses Jail To $42.50 Fine

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Jan. 10 (AP)—A 35-year-old man who carried more than $13,500 cash with him chose jail yesterday rather than pay a $42.50 fine for several traffic and motor vehicle misdemeanors.

Francis P. Breedlove might never have had to face the choice had he paid a $3 parking ticket last October. He was arrested yesterday on this charge.

He protested he didn't have enough money to pay it, but a routine police search of his clothing turned up several hundred dollars. Police found $13,571.99 in all on his person and in the glove compartment and trunk of Breedlove's 1951 automobile.

Breedlove said the money represented 10 years' earnings, and explained he doesn't "believe in banks." He has made a business of chauffeuring railroad workers between the downtown station and the yards north of Champaign.

While finding and counting contents of sacks and boxes crammed with coins and currency, police also determined that Breedlove had no driver's license and that his auto license plates were fictitious. He was charged with all three offenses.

Breedlove's money was put in the city treasurer's vault for safe-keeping.

Valuable Painting Found In Church

LUEBECK, Germany, Jan. 10 (AP)—A German art expert said today a musty old painting hanging almost unnoticed in the Catherine church is a Tintoretto.

Prof. H. Schmalenberg, director of the Luebeck Museum, said the signature of the famous Italian Renaissance artist was discovered on the huge painting when it was being cleaned.

The 12x8 feet picture, "The Resurrection of Lazarus," is dated 1576, and is almost buried under layers of varnish.

Area Highway Toll For 1956 Totaled 26

The year 1956 has ended, but State Police at the LaVale barracks expressed a hope that more caution will be used on the highways during 1957.

A check of the State Police files reveals 26 persons lost their lives during 1956 on area highways.

Last year was only three days old when the first highway fatality was recorded.

George J. Leyh, 61, Narrows Park, was killed instantly when struck by a bus while walking along U.S. Route 40, just within the limits of Cumberland.

Leyh was the only fatality recorded during the 12-month period within the city limits.

The second fatality was Edward Andrew Clarkman, 24, of RD 1, Hyndman. Clarkman died of injuries on January 8, sustained in an automobile accident on January 3 within the city limits of Frostburg.

The third fatality during January came on the 20th when Paul L. Kennedy, 23, Flintstone, was killed instantly on U. S. Route 40 in LaVale.

Kennedy lost control of the vehicle he was driving, ran off the road and died of a fractured skull.

On February 11, Joseph Alexander Davis, 20, of RD 2, Williams Road, was fatally injured on U. S. Route 222, just north of the Cumberland city limits. His vehicle went out of control, ran off the highway, and Davis died February 14 in a local hospital.

Twelve days later, on February 26, James Logsdon was killed when he was struck by a car while walking along U. S. Route 40 in Eckhart.

Ten-year-old Teena D. Young, of New Jersey, was the area's next traffic death when she died of a broken neck on March 31 on State Route 39, two miles west of Crellin. The youngster was killed while riding in her father's automobile.

The State Police report said the Young car skidded on the snow-covered highway and struck a tree headon.

Three months passed without a highway fatality until June 8 when William J. Ross, 18, of Westernport, was killed in a two-car headon crash one-half mile north of Swanton on Route 495. Ross died instantly of a fractured skull.

On June 29 Carl Parker, 32, Luke, was killed when his motorcycle was struck by a tractor-trailer truck on Grant Street in Frostburg.

July 6 marked the death of Asa E. Everett, 68, of RD 4, Cumberland, when he became the victim of a hit-and-run driver 11½ miles east of Cumberland on Route 51. State Police said today the case is still being investigated.

July 22 was a dark day in the area when four-year-old Randall Martin was killed when struck by a car while he was playing in front of his home on the Beans Cove Road, eight miles east of Cumberland.

Five days later, July 27, Charles A. Hahn, 28, Meyersdale, was killed when his car ran over an embankment on U. S. Route 40, two miles west of Frostburg. Police said Hahn lost control of his vehicle, ran over the embankment and sustained a fractured skull.

The first fatality in August came on the 3rd when Warren H. Printy, 68, of Corriganville, was struck by a vehicle while walking along State Route 36 in Corriganville.

August 13 saw George M. Bott Jr., 24, of Keene, N. H., killed when his car struck a bank along State Route 135, two miles west of Bloomington. Police said Bott was thrown from the vehicle by the impact.

On August 24 the area suffered its 13th traffic death when Jesse Ray Bean died of a heart attack following an accident on Route 51, seven miles east of Cumberland. Bean was riding in the back seat of a flat-bedded truck and was thrown from the vehicle in the crash.

William P. Murphy, 54, local insurance agent, was killed on August 29 when the car he was driving crashed at North Branch. Murphy was returning to Cumberland when his car went out of control near the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, shot off the highway and over an embankment. He was pinned under the vehicle.

On the first day of September, Harry T. Shryock, 4, of Oldtown, was killed instantly when he was struck by a car three miles west of Oldtown on Route 51. The youngster was riding his bike, and pulled from a sidewalk onto the main highway.

Eight days later, September 9, John G. Merrbach, Cumberland, was killed instantly on Route 36 at Gilmore. The victim's car struck a concrete bridge.

September 18 marked the death of James M. Sirbaugh, 30, Keyser, who was killed in a coal truck on a private road leading to a coal mine near Franklin, Md.

The last fatality in September, the worst month for accidents, came on the 24th when Kenneth Files, 24, Cumberland, was killed near the new Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company. Files was driving to work at the local industry when his car was struck by a three-unit train "dead-heading" to Cumberland.

On October 20 Warren E. Hice, Mt. Savage, was struck and killed while walking along State Route 36 near Mt. Savage. He died in Sacred Heart Hospital.

Shortly after Hice's death, which occurred near midnight, another fatality was recorded in Garrett County when Neva L. Bowers, 16, of Deer Park was killed. She was riding in a car along U.S. Route 219 and the vehicle wrecked, throwing Miss Bowers' body into Deep Creek Lake.

November 8 claimed the life of William J. LaManna, 35, Frostburg, as he was returning home from Garrett County on U.S. Route 40 five and one-half miles west of Frostburg. LaManna was killed when his vehicle crashed headon into a truck.

The following day another death was chalked up when David L. Tichnell, five, was crushed by a car door two miles south of Swanton in Garrett County. The youngster was riding with his father when a backdoor flew open, and the tot was crushed between the door and an embankment.

December got under way early with a fatality on the third about 100 feet this side of the Pennsylvania State Line in Garrett County. The victim was Mary Ryman, 17, of Salisbury. She was a passenger in a car which skidded and ran off the highway and struck a tree.

Another highway death occurred in December when Carl Price McDonald, 56, Cumberland, was killed while riding in a car along U.S. Route 40, one mile east of Cumberland. The car in which McDonald was riding collided headon into another vehicle traveling west on the highway.

The last fatality of 1956 came Hutzell, 42, RD 1, Cumberland, Route 40, approximately 200 feet was thrown over a bridge by the west of the city limits. Hutzell impact.

Three Teamsters Union Officers Are Re-Elected

Three incumbent officers of Local 453, Teamsters Union, which represents 1,875 truck drivers and warehousemen in Cumberland, Westernport, Bedford and Somerset sections were re-elected to office in voting concluded Wednesday.

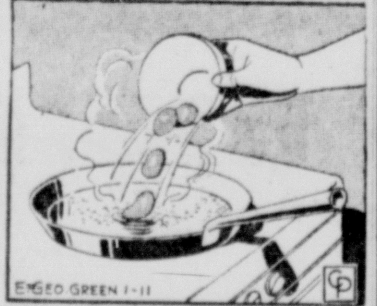

Patrick Fairall, chairman of the election committee, said Charles E. Bramble, city, president since 1937, was re-elected to a five-year term of office over C. E. "Chic" Little, Bedford, a driver for the Continental Transportation Company. Bramble is employed by the Times and Alleghenian Company.

C. E. Stutzman, city, vice president and business agent since 1940, won out over Casper Shook, city, a driver for Maryland Motor Lines.

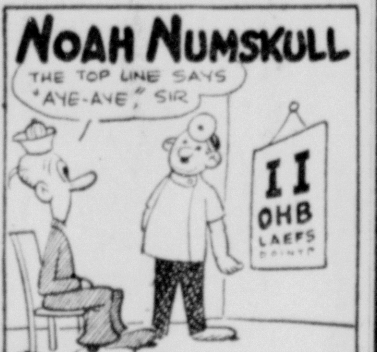

Bernard N. Harris, city, a driver for the C. D. Kenney Company, who has been secretary-treasurer since 1937, defeated Kenneth Thompson, Bedford, a driver for Spector Motor Freight.

Unopposed and re-elected was Joseph Garlitz, city, recording secretary; Leo R. Fike, city, was unopposed for the post of trustee for a three-year term. He is a driver-salesman for Orts Bakery. Fairall said the men elected won by a "comfortable margin." Members of the executive board, comprised of the officers of the union and three trustees, will select the union business agent at a meeting later this month. It is expected that Stutzman will be retained in his post as business agent, union officials said.

Schmutz Heads Cardinal Club

Carl F. Schmutz, one of the two surviving charter members of The Cardinal Club Inc., which will observe its 50th anniversary later this year, was elected president of the club by the directors following the annual stockholders' meeting in the George Williams Room of Central YMCA.

Elected directors at the stockholders' meeting Monday night were James W. Bishop, John W. Deetz, George A. Fogtman, Clinton H. Hafer, William H. Marean, Perry E. Rosenmerkle and Mr. Schmutz.

Other officers elected by the directors include Mr. Bishop, first vice president; Theodore Haller, the other surviving charter member, honorary vice president; Mr. Marean, secretary, and Mr. Deetz, treasurer.

The club was organized in the Fall of 1907 by a group of local teen-agers. About 1921 the members acquired the property now owned along the Potomac River at the mouth of Town Creek. The original club house washed away in the 1936 flood and the present building was completed in 1937.

Plans for the celebration of the 50th anniversary in the fall will be formulated later this year.

Red Cross Needs Only $400 For Hungarian Quota

A total of $2,228 has been contributed to the Red Cross here for Hungarian relief, according to Mrs. George W. Legge, chapter executive secretary. The county's quota is $2,630.

Last week an appeal was made for 600 persons to contribute $1 each and since then about $200 has been voluntarily contributed.

Mrs. Legge said yesterday an additional $400 is needed to reach the county's assignment and she hopes that residents will continue to send in their contributions.

National Red Cross is urging every chapter, she noted, to impress their area residents with the importance of meeting the goal, and raising funds to bring food, clothing, shelter, medical care and other assistance to the thousands of homeless Hungarians who have fled their homeland.

Airline Business Heads Up And Up

Among the statistics revealing details of the nation's economic health in 1956 is a set of startling figures from the national air transport business.

Planes are now carrying more passenger traffic (counting by passenger-miles) than railroads, and scheduled air transportation in 1956, for the first time since the Korean War, was solely responsible for a three per cent increase in domestic intercity passenger traffic carried by the country's transportation systems.

Domestic airline passenger traffic in 1956 increased 2.7 billion revenue passenger miles over 1955, while surface carriers showed a loss of 871 million passenger miles.

Instead of falling off, as had been predicted in some circles because of possible saturation of the field, orders for new aircraft are the largest in history. Positive orders and public statements of intention to order include 213 jet transport planes at a cost of $1.2 billion, 183 turbo-prop airplanes (aircraft with jet engines turning propellers) at a cost of $500 million, and 271 piston-engine airplanes at a cost of more than $500 million.

Revenue passenger miles of the airlines increased from 24 billion in 1955 to 28 billion in 1956—a gain of approximately 14 per cent. Air freight revenue shows an equal gain.

The air transportation system is now a solid component of the nation's economy, with enormous volume of business and huge potential for the future.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Problem Of War

Since 1912, the world has been disturbed by threats of war, wars, revolutions, counter-revolutions and the social and economic concomitants of such upheavals. The present course of events started with the emergence of Germany as an imperial and commercial power of prime magnitude, reducing the position of France after the Franco-Prussian War in 1870 and challenging the naval power of Great Britain at the turn of the century.

Bismarck, who had created modern Germany, had opposed colonialism for Germany, recognizing in Germany's neighbors, Poland, Russia, the Austro-Hungarian Empire, the Balkans ample opportunities for markets for the products of the developing German industries. On the other hand, as Kaiser Wilhelm came to power, he sought to turn Germany into a great naval power and into the dominant commercial power of the world. Having defeated France by military power, Germany now sought to replace Great Britain on the seas and in the commercial ports of the world.

Eventually this policy produced World War I which is really not yet over. In fact, in one form or another, the world has been at some kind of war for more than 40 years.

Throughout this long period efforts have been made to find a way to peace, for the settlement of international disputes without recourse to war. The three most significant efforts in this direction were the League of Nations, the Kellogg-Briand Pact and the United Nations. None of these methods or organs has produced peace, impeded the preparations for war or lessened the force of imperialism. Although Germany was defeated, Soviet Russia succeeded in establishing a new and larger and more significant empire than the Kaiser had conceived or Hitler had achieved.

One of the major problems of the later decades of the Nineteenth Century was the intensification of nationalism, particularly following the revolutions of 1848. One result of this was the weakening of the Austro-Hungarian and the Turkish Empires, producing a larger number of new nations in the Balkans and in the Middle East. Students of politics often feared the consequences of this trend as increasing the number of nations, increasing trade barriers and accentuating dislikes and prejudices among peoples.

There are now 80 member states of the United Nations and this does not include all the countries on Earth.

Professor Carlton Hayes, describing what in the Nineteenth Century was regarded as national liberalism, wrote:

"... the kind which postulated an atomized Europe of self-conscious nationalities, each one, whether large or small, romantically prizing its distinctive language and historic traditions, peacefully attaining to political independence and constitutional government, and, of course, not denying to others the right of national self-determination it claimed for itself ..."

But this type of liberalism produced war. Hayes said of it:

"... Divested of romantic trappings of altruism and cosmopolitanism, it was rendered nakedly 'realist' and unblushingly self-centered. No longer modest or pacific, it grew blatant and bellicose; and with pride of success substituted for mere aspiration, it took on an imperialistic complexion. For a nation which by force of arms had demonstrated its fitness to survive must be superior to others, and entitled, in so far as it could, to dominate them. This type of nationalism was obviously not liberal ..."

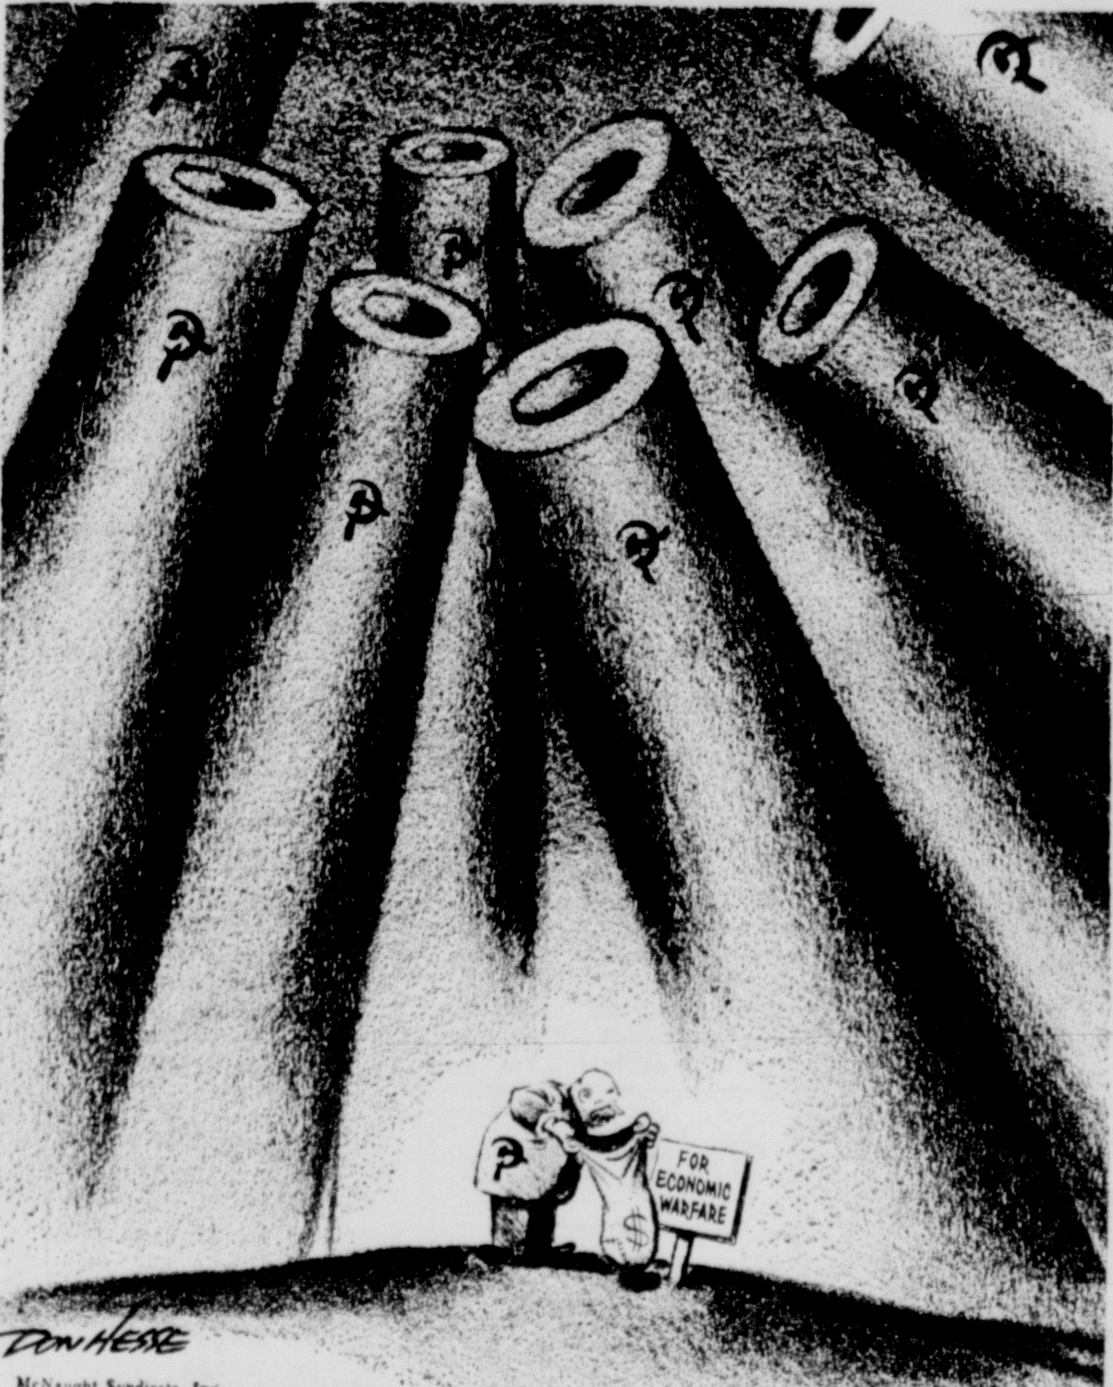

The Bolsheviks who, as Marxists, despised nationalism and patriotism, have become intensely nationalistic, not only in Soviet Russia but in each of the satellite countries. And within Soviet Russia, the government and party have tried to extirpate all evidences of minority differences even as Czarist Russia tried to do in the same areas and to the same peoples.

Today, Arab nationalism is asserting itself more effectively than it ever has in Islam's history and it has, during the past year, given evidence of greater potency than ever before, but it is not realistic because just as Pan-Slavism could never bind all the Slavic peoples into a unity, so there is no evidence that Pan-Arabism or Pan-Islam can bind Iraq (Babylonia) to Egypt or Saudi Arabia to Lebanon. There is plenty of history behind these differences.

Realistically it needs to be faced that no method has yet been discovered by the human mind to overcome the tendency of "nations to use war as an extension of diplomacy, to pit strength against intelligence and killing against morality. That is where we stand in 1957.

Famine Amidst Plenty

Naming Nixon To OCB Post Would Set Precedent

WASHINGTON

By Stewart Alsop

The final decision on whether to appoint Vice President Richard Nixon to a key post in the Executive branch of the government—thus shattering precedent—is now up to President Eisenhower. But as far as Nixon himself is concerned, his mind is made up. He wants the job, and the President knows he wants it. If he gets it, it will be a giant stride forward for Nixon towards the Republican Presidential nomination in 1960.

The job is the Chairmanship of the Operations Coordinating Board. The OCB is one of those government boards which most people have never heard about. Yet it is potentially a very powerful body today. Under the Chairmanship of Richard Nixon it could become as powerful as one of the great departments—and more so. The OCB owes its existence, in a sense, to the President's military background. As a General, Eisenhower was accustomed to making decisions and then assuming, with good reason, that they would be carried out. But in his first years as President, he unhappily discovered that things do not work quite that way in the vast, sprawling, inchoate American government.

Again and again, the President had the same experience. He would jot "D.D.E." on a National Security Council paper, thus making the contents of the paper official policy. Months after, he would ask what had been done to carry out his decision, and find that nothing whatsoever had been done. He therefore created the OCB, in February, 1955, to ride herd on all departments and agencies, and to make sure that something was actually done to carry out NSC decisions.

The President appointed the Under-Secretary of State as Chairman of the OCB. This did not work out as expected, for two reasons. Reason one was that the Under-Secretary of State was Herbert Hoover Jr., and the younger Hoover belongs to the school which holds that, given a choice between doing nothing and doing something, it is better to do nothing.

But reason two has nothing to do with Hoover as an individual. The State Department is involved in one way or another in every major NSC decision. Thus the Under-Secretary of State, when wearing his OCB hat, is supposed to ride herd on himself—something no man can comfortably do.

Christian A. Herter, who is to succeed Hoover on February 1st, has let it be known that he has no particular desire to take on the uncomfortable task. Various other candidates have been suggested, including Generals Bedell Smith and Alfred Gruenther, neither of whom particularly wants the job. But Nixon does want it, and he must be considered the leading candidate.

There are excellent reasons for giving Nixon such a post. He is a man of unquestioned ability and energy, and with the President's encouragement and consent, he has done all he can to turn the ornamental office of the Vice Presidency into something meaningful.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Egyptians are playing it cozy as a breakfast alcove when they pull down the statue of de Lesseps.

Nobody's going to push over the Pyramids. And the Sphinx has the wheel-base of an Arizona butte.

Statuicide is the expression of people with a grievance real or intangible. It's what we call letting off esteem.

De Lesseps' colossus of bronze was a massive memo that he dug the Suez Canal. The Egyptians didn't like that any more than you admire reminders of your age.

Statuicide is a preamble to a declaration of indignation coupled with direct action via a detour. The patriots of 1776 won a tug-of-war with the statue of George the Third. They melted him up and smelted him down to bullets.

Bismarck and Napoleon have been pulled down oftener than curtains in an old maids' home. So have Mussolini and Shickelgruber. The way of the transgressor is a star route to sudden junk.

If England erected a memorial every place a fighter fell Bombardier Wells would have had a thousand monuments.

Bombardier was different. The ropes supported him oftener than they pulled him down.

Eisenhower Blisters Nasser At Staff Session For Behaving Like Victor

By Drew Pearson

THE CAIRO RADIO on October 14, 1955 proclaimed: "Justice and logic require that we now defend Russia and attack America, which has shown falsehood, deceit, and ill-will."

The Cairo radio is of course the official mouthpiece of Colonel Nasser's government. This statement was made at the very time Secretary Dulles was talking about a whopping loan to Nasser for the Aswan Dam. It was also at the same time the United States was sending arms and foreign aid to Nasser.

AL-AHRAM, the Cairo Daily, published in a country where the press is required to represent the government, had this to say about American aid, on October 2, 1955:

"America with all its millions and billions cannot win the heart of Egypt with diseased Point 4 chicks. . . . Nor can America win the heart of Egypt with cheese, condensed milk, etc., which we know she is interested in getting rid of. America cannot win the heart of Egyptians with her worthless colored posters in which she attacks Communism while she herself is not a democratic country."

These were not isolated editorials. They followed a pattern.

PROCLAIMED THE CAIRO RADIO October 11, 1955: "American weapons provide the basic channel for the penetration of American influence. The Americans therefore invented what they called the Mutual Security Pact. They offer it to miserable nations forced by circumstances to arm, and they innocently say to them: 'All you have to do is sign this pact and American weapons will pour into your country without costing you a single cent.'"

WARNED THE CAIRO RADIO on December 13, 1955: "Where is the prosperity enjoyed by Turkey after having received dozens of millions from its friend, the United States? In Turkey there is backwardness which has been made more so through American aid."

The critical broadcasts and editorials continued. Finally in July 1956, John Foster Dulles, partly because of Egyptian criticism, partly because of the approaching U.S. election and the Jewish vote, suddenly withdrew the offer of money for the Aswan Dam.

"Let them choke on their own fury," shouted Nasser, and seized the Suez Canal.

Will Nasser Change?

The big question Congress will have to decide is whether Nasser is now ready to cooperate or whether he will revert to type, lie is the chief leader of the Arab world. What he does, most of North Africa and part of the Near East will follow.

Eisenhower's private gripe at Nasser, the other day was certainly justified; but it highlights one of the major mistakes of the President's Administration.

It could have made any terms with Nasser when he was cringing in a cellar during the French-British-Israeli attack. He lost the battle for the Sinai Peninsula ignominiously. His army held out against tiny Israel for only six days. But now he is acting as if he were the victor.

In other words, Nasser has not changed. John Foster Dulles urged him to take American money when Nasser was getting huge shipments of Russian arms. Dulles rushed to London to side with Nasser when Nasser first seized Suez. Dulles even went to bat for him against our traditional allies, the French and British; withheld oil until they were out of Suez.

Despite all this, the Egyptian dictator is now back at his old pastime of playing Russia off against the United States.

So the big question Congress will have to decide is whether Nasser will now be influenced by a new offer of American aid, plus the Eisenhower doctrine of threatened force. Or will he figure it's all part of the fuzzy American policy of helping those who criticize you most?

Under The Dome

House Foreign Affairs Chairman Thomas Gordon (D., Ill.) wants to sharply cross-examine outgoing Undersecretary Herbert Hoover Jr., re the Eisenhower doctrine. Hoover reportedly made the decision to rescue Egyptian dictator Nasser after the Israeli attack without getting any promise from him about future cooperation with the U.S. . . . Sad-eyed Sen. Olin Johnston (D., S.C.) has declared privately that he'll vote against the Middle East plan even if he ends up a minority of one. He doesn't believe Congress should hand President Eisenhower a blank check. . . . Trigger-tongued Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.) complains that the Eisenhower Administration is stealing the Democratic program. "I don't mind if they adopt our ideas," says Humphrey, "but I don't like them to claim fatherhood."

Browning
Why should a taxi driver, who does nothing for the passenger but drive him to his destination, be tipped? That is a question constantly asked. I don't know the answer. Have put the query to taxi drivers. Only answer from them I have so far is that if they don't get tips they don't make enough money to support a family. On the other hand, operators of taxi fleets say if they paid the drivers any more their business would be run at a loss. An unhealthy situation. How can it be rectified?

FASHIONS

What relation has feminine fashion to contemporary conditions? According to the distinguished fashion historian, James Laver, peace and prosperity has prevailed in practically all periods when women wore tight corsets and long dresses and featured long hair. That in periods when women wore short skirts and short hair and plunging necklines the countries, where these styles prevailed suffered from unrest, inflation and wide variety of other difficulties.

EFFICIENCY

The number of efficiency experts continues to increase. Now even cemeteries have efficiency experts. One of these had the size of the graves in the cemetery by which he was employed reduced from 33's square feet to 30 square feet. He pointed out that this reduction would make it possible to bury more people in the cemetery's vacant area and thus afford a substantial increase in profit.

What To Do And What Not To Do For Your Cold

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

When a physician is asked how a cold should be treated, he is likely to reply, "Symptomatically." This means there is no specific remedy and each symptom is treated as it arises. Go to bed, stay warm, push fluids, and take aspirin for headache and a codein preparation for cough.

Nasal congestion can be relieved temporarily by nose-drops or a spray containing a vaso-constrictor such as ephedrine or neo-synephrine. These drugs are capable of shrinking the membranes and opening the nasal passageways. It is wonderful to be able to breathe again through the nostrils. But the good effects are short lived and the procedure must be repeated periodically.

Nosedrops and sprays containing these basic ingredients frequently are combined with other substances to make them more attractive. A little menthol does no harm but the same cannot be said when the sulfonamides, the steroids, or penicillin, or other antibiotics are added for other reasons.

These drugs are excellent remedies but rarely are effective when applied locally to the nasal membranes. Furthermore, they may irritate the area and thus prolong the cold or lead to sensitivity to the medication. Occasionally, bacteria become resistant to their antiseptic action.

Aspirin is the time tested remedy for easing aches, pains, and other annoying symptoms associated with a cold. The salicylates may be mixed with other products to enhance their effectiveness. The combination of aspirin, phenacetin, and caffeine tablets (APC) has been popular for decades. Codein or pantopon may be added to cough medicine.

The antihistaminics are used on the premise that early symptoms of a cold are allergic in nature. The sulfa and antibiotic drugs have no effect on the causative virus. If they prove to be useful, bacteria rather than viruses are responsible for inflammation of the nose and throat. On the other hand, antibiotics are valuable in preventing complications and in treatment of later manifestations of a cold.

There is no vaccine against the common cold. But vaccines are available for flu prevention and at least one progress report has appeared on a vaccine being used on naval recruits against types 3, 4, and 7 adenoviruses.

In time we should have similar vaccines against a host of other respiratory diseases, the symptoms of which are indistinguishable from those of the common cold.

TOMORROW: Our readers write to us.

VIOLENT COUGHING

C. D. writes: Could coughing real hard cause hemorrhage from the lungs?

REPLY

Yes, because violent coughing usually is associated with inflammation of the bronchial membranes. In such instances, the capillaries are easily ruptured by coughing. I doubt if hemorrhage could be produced by coughing if the bronchial membranes are normal.

MUMPS WITHOUT SWELLING

N. K. writes: Can mumps occur without swelling of the jaws?

REPLY

Yes, particularly when swelling of the salivary glands is minimal or when glands other than those in the jaw are involved.

BLEACHING DURING PREGNANCY

Mrs. W. writes: I am a bleached blonde who is going to have a baby. Will the infant be harmed if I continue bleaching?

REPLY

No, but don't expect to deliver a towhead unless natural blondness runs in your family or your husband's.

HE DOESN'T SWING

B. E. writes: A man I know who is well read, intelligent, kindly, and gifted differs from other men in that his arms hang straight when he walks. Why don't they swing?

REPLY

Because he has spent more time reading than walking. The walker who hugs his arms to the body gets only half as much exercise as the swinger.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individuals.

Windber And Rockwood List Entries For Pennsylvania Maple Queen Title

Annual Festival Planned For April 5, 7 At Meyersdale

MEYERSDALE, Pa. — Two young women from Somerset County high schools have entered in the annual competition for the title of Pennsylvania's Queen Maple X. They are Miss Sarah Ann Murphy of Windber Joint High School and Miss Mary Kathryn Baer of Rockwood Joint High School.

While coming from opposite ends of the county, both contestants will strive to win a state senatorial scholarship, a $100 Maple Festival educational award and numerous other gifts. They will join with 10 other county lovelies in the Maple Queen contest to be held Wednesday, Feb.

Two at 8 p. m. in Cochran Junior High School auditorium in Johnstown.

A board of judges will consider the contestants for their personality at an afternoon tea, in an evening gown, for their ability in a talent number and personality from the stage. In addition to a new maple queen, maids of honor and princesses will be named for Maple Festival activities in Meyersdale, April 5-7.

May Study Law

Miss Murphy is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Murphy of 312 Spruce Street in Windber. She is a college preparatory student and will enter Dickinson College at Carlisle where she will study political science before entering law school.

Standing five feet, three and one-half inches high, Miss Murphy weighs 105 pounds, has grey-green eyes and dark blonde hair. The 16-year-old lass will sing "The Lovely Song My Heart Is Singing" by Edmund Goulding, accompanied at the piano by Miss Olive Fornear.

Miss Janet Rowland is an adviser for the senior contestant who has listed music, reading and sewing as her hobbies. In the Windber schools she is a member of the mixed chorus, girls' ensemble, dramatics club, Y-Teens and the Stylus, school yearbook. Miss Murphy is a member of the Scalp Level Church of the Brethren.

Sister Was A Princess

Miss Baer is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Baer of Rockwood RD 1. A sister, the former Miss Rita Baer, was a Maple Princess for the second annual Maple Festival in 1949.

With ambitions to be a beautician, Miss Baer is a commercial student. Her school activities include being a cheerleader, a member of the chorus, varsity, health and library clubs. The blue-eyed, brown-haired senior is five feet two and one-half inches tall and weighs 102 pounds.

Miss Baer has decided to sing a vocal solo for her talent number and will be accompanied by Miss Sandra Philippi. The 17-year-old contestant enjoys painting, swimming and skating as hobbies, and is a member of St. Luke's Lutheran Church in Rockwood.

Her advisers are Mrs. Mary Neimiller and Frank Illar, both faculty members of Rockwood Joint Schools.

W.Va. Legislature Okays Salary Hikes

Six Elective Offices Listed

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 10.—Pay raises for six elective state officials received bi-partisan approval of the West Virginia Legislature today.

The measures go to the governor where it was assured of a prompt signature because the legislation had the endorsement of both the outgoing and incoming governors.

The act provides $12,000 salaries for the attorney general and school superintendent, and $11,000 annually for the treasurer, auditor, agriculture commissioner and secretary of state.

The attorney general presently receives $7,500 and the other five officials $7,250 each.

The governor was not included because his salary was raised by a prior Legislature to $17,500.

Completion of work on this "must" legislation represented about the only work of either house today except for the introduction of new bills and resolutions.

Both adjourned until 9:30 a.m. tomorrow, and with exceptions they will then recess until Tuesday. Gov.-elect Cecil H. Underwood's inauguration is scheduled for Monday.

New Ways With Pudding Mixes Make Interesting And Luscious Desserts

Seek and you shall find there's always an unusual and flavor-some dessert to be made from a package of pudding and pie filling mix. Here, then, are three such special treats to introduce to your family — Grape Icebox Cookie Cake, Apple Crisp, and Coconut Orange Pie — all equally delicious and easy to prepare.

Most captivating, perhaps, is the icebox cake because it harbors so many surprises. There's the tangy cooked-in fruit flavor of the pudding prepared with grape juice and to climax the delight of this heavenly combination, a pint of vanilla ice cream is added. Layered alternately with coconut bar cookies, it's just yummy good eating.

The Apple Crisp dessert is really a tasty new version of Brown Betty. Juicy red apples are sliced, smothered with a crunchy mixture of bran flakes and butter-scotch pudding, just as it comes from the package, and baked until crisp and brown. This toothsome dessert is so quick and easy to prepare the youngsters will have fun making it.

There's plenty of refreshing fruit flavor and eye appeal in this Coconut Orange Pie — the perfect dessert for festive occasions or a gathering of teen-agers. The fresh orange flavor of this light, creamy filling is topped with a fluffy meringue and a sprinkling of toasted coconut flakes to give it added distinctiveness.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?
A. Ham Half (Butt Portion)
Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
A. It is the upper half of the ham and includes the butt and 1/4 of the center section.
Q. How is it prepared?
A. It is roasted (baked) in a 300°F. oven allowing 25 to 30 minutes per pound for cooking. If using a roast meat thermometer, the internal temperature of the roast should register 160°F. on the thermometer.

Then add ice cream by spoonfuls, stirring after each addition until melted. Chill 10 to 15 minutes, or until mixture is slightly thickened.

Arrange about 12 cookies in the bottom of a lightly greased 9x5-inch loaf pan. Spoon one-third of the pudding over the cookies. Continue layering cookies and pudding, making 3 layers of each. Chill until firm (at least 1 hour). To unmold, draw a knife or spatula around sides of pan; turn cake onto serving plate. Makes 8 servings.

*Note: Use 1 1/4 cups pineapple juice for Pineapple Ice Box Cookie Cake.

Apple Crisp
4 cups sliced apples
1/4 cup butter
1 package butterscotch pudding and pie filling mix
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 1/2 cups 40% bran flakes

Arrange apples in shallow baking dish. Cream butter; add pudding mix, cinnamon, and cereal; blend. Sprinkle over apples. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 30 minutes, or until apples are tender. Serve warm or chilled. Makes 8 servings.

THE BREAD THAT'S ENERGY PACKED

Coconut Orange Pie
1 package vanilla pudding and pie filling mix
1 1/2 cups milk
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/4 cup orange juice
1 baked 8-inch pie shell
2 egg whites, unbeaten
4 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup tender-thin flaked coconut

Combine pie filling mix and 1/4 cup milk in saucepan. Add egg yolks and blend well. Then add remaining 1 1/4 cups milk. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat. Add orange rind, lemon juice, and orange juice; blend. Cool only about 5 minutes, stirring once or twice. Pour into baked pie shell.

Beat egg whites until foamy throughout. Add sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating after each addition until sugar is blended. Then continue beating until meringue will stand in peaks. Spread over pie filling. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 5 minutes. Then sprinkle with coconut and bake 3 minutes longer.

Look For Quality In Chinese Noodles

Do you know what characteristics make chow mein noodles tops in quality? Possibly not, but you do know whether you like them or not. There are definite signs, however, which indicate quality in these noodles, just as there are in soda crackers and potato chips. Leading processors of Chinese noodles maintain decided standards. Chow mein noodles should be crisp, yet tender enough to break easily. They should be golden brown in color. Also, the best noodles are slightly irregular in shape and somewhat blistered, as well as have a fresh appetizing odor.

Two Styles Of Corn Are Equally Popular

Whole kernel and cream style canned corn share equal honors for popularity on American tables; each accounts for about half the consumption of canned corn. And that's a lot of corn. This year, about 1 1/4 million tons of sweet corn have been processed, representing over 3/4 of the total crop. And roughly 2/3 of all the corn has been canned.

Most of the cream style corn is packed in 1-pound cans. But 48% of the whole kernel corn goes into the 12-ounce can while the 1-pound size gets 36% of this corn style.

Whichever style of corn you like best, you can find lots of uses for it: chowders, casseroles, salads, puddings and many another dish can accommodate corn and benefit by its presence. In fact, the best solution is to keep both styles of canned corn on your shelf. Each has its special merits and functions.

Ham Slices With Orange Stuffing Make Flavorful Dinner Entree

What's better than one ham before serving. While the meat is in the oven, bake some creamed potatoes at the same time, and you'll be well on your way to completion of a dinner menu, such as this:

Baked Creamed Potatoes
Buttered Carrots
Green Salad
Bread Sticks
Date Cake

Tea or Coffee
To prepare the ham slices and orange stuffing, follow these directions:

Ham Slices with Orange Stuffing
2 ham slices, 1/2 inch thick
1 medium orange
1 quart day-old bread cubes
1/2 cup diced celery
1/4 cup melted butter or margarine

2 eggs, slightly beaten
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1/4 teaspoon marjoram
Place 1 ham slice in bottom of shallow baking pan. For stuffing, grate orange rind, then remove peel and white membrane, and cut pulp into cubes, discarding seeds. Combine grated orange rind with fruit pulp, bread, celery, butter, eggs, seasonings, and sugar. Spoon on top of ham slice, and cover with remaining slice. Cover pan, using foil if no cover is available, and bake at 325°F. 1 hour. Uncover, spoon drippings over top slice, and broil 5 to 10 minutes or until top slice is browned and edges crisp. Serve immediately. Six servings.

A Cranberry Spread

Cranberry Sauce makes an excellent spread for crackers or bread. It has 20% less sugar than most jams and jellies. Try spreading softened cream cheese on buttered toast or bread, then spread with cranberry sauce. Perfect on nut bread.

Two New Versions Of An Old-Time Favorite

When cold wintry winds blow and appetites are brisk, nothing is more welcome than a bubbling pot of hearty soup on the stove. Here are two new versions of an old-time favorite — both so delicious, packed with vitamins and so substantial they'd make a whole meal served with rye bread or crunchy French rolls. Try them soon and you'll serve them often.

BEAN PUREE
2 cups navy (pea) beans
3 quarts water
1 medium onion, minced
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
4 tablespoons butter

Soak beans in water overnight or boil briskly until skins break. Add onion and celery salt and cook until beans are very soft. Press beans through a coarse sieve, add salt, pepper and mustard. Cook until mixture thickens to desired consistency. Add butter and stir until melted. Serve with slice of hard-cooked egg.

If desired, beans may be cooked with a ham bone, soup bone or 1/4 pound salt pork cut in pieces.

BARLEY BEAN SOUP
Place 2 slices of beef shank, sawed into pieces 1 1/2 inches thick, 2 small ham knuckles, 1/2 cup dried navy (pea) beans, 1/4 cup pearl barley, 2 sliced celery tops, and 1 chopped onion in a large kettle. Pour over 8 cups cold water; cover and simmer 3 hours. Remove meat, and when cool enough to handle, slice from the bone and cut in small pieces. Return meat to soup, season with salt and pepper, and heat. Serve with a sprinkling of chopped parsley.

Milk Shake Mix

Wise mothers start youngsters off to school during cold weather with a warm protective breakfast. This doesn't mean, always, that the entire meal must be hot. It can include a hot cereal or creamy scrambled eggs, french toast, or possibly a hot beverage served with their favorite, ready-prepared breakfast food.

 On mornings when hot chocolate is on the agenda, there is a quick way you can prepare it. The new chocolate milk shake mix called Make-A-Shake, which is high in nutritive value, makes a delicious hot beverage. All you do is pour 1½ cups milk and ¾ cup water into a shaker and shake contents of one foil package. Shake until dissolved, then pour into a pan and heat slowly. It will make four cups.

Toffee Butter Cookies

1 cup butter
 1 cup brown sugar
 1 egg
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 2 cups sifted flour
 5c plain milk chocolate bars
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup chopped nuts (pecans, English walnuts, cashews, etc.)
 Cream butter and sugar. Beat well, add egg. Beat until light, add vanilla. Add flour and blend thoroughly. Spread on 11" x 17" jelly roll pan. Bake in moderate oven, 350°F. for 15 to 20 minutes. Place eight 5c milk chocolate bars on top of hot cake. Spread and sprinkle with chopped nuts. Will make from 72 to 80 cookies.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A Floral Tribute

No matter how tempted you may be to wear a corsage the day after a gala event or special celebration, don't do it. Particularly is this true if you're going to the office. Withered posies are as sad as the wearer trying to "show off to the girls" that she's lucky in love.

It is much better to float the corsage in a beautiful silver or crystal bowl at home and enjoy it that way for as long as it will last.

When you do wear a corsage, pin it on correctly. Generally speaking, all posies should be worn as they grow, with their stems down.

A corsage doesn't always have to be pinned on the left shoulder. You can be more individual and find a number of interesting ways to wear it — particularly if it is a single posy. Try pinning a lone blossom on your evening purse, at your waistline, on a pocket, at the V of a low neckline or on your hair. However, when you do wish to pin a corsage on your shoulder, place it as high and as far out on the shoulder as you can.

On occasions when you can select your own flowers, or when your best beau asks for a hint, tell him quite frankly what you are wearing. And your personality should be taken into account. If you are the elegant type, you can be complemented with luxurious blooms such as gardenias, camellias, or pale orchids. The exotic can carry brilliant colors in large masses such as open cabbage roses, bird of paradise, or clustered tulips. While a cosmopolitan can pin unusual flowers on her lapel in crisp arrangements — freesias, cymbidiums, tiny yellow callas or carnations.

Vary Ice Cream Topping On Pie

Vanilla ice cream is the customary choice for topping a wedge of warm pie. If you want to add an even more pleasing touch to your favorite pie a la mode, however, try using different flavors of ice cream occasionally. Choose an ice cream that offers taste contrast to the pie's filling, yet blends harmoniously with it.

Winter pies are particularly well suited to different ice cream flavors. For instance, butter pecan ice cream is wonderful on mince pie. Spoon a dollop of strawberry ice cream over spicy apple pie for a change. Or try coffee ice cream on old fashioned pumpkin pie.

Candy Bar Pieces Enhance Custard

For variety with cup custards you prepare for the children, sprinkle some chopped candy in the bottom of each baking cup before adding custard mixture. You'll need only three of the youngsters' favorite candy bars to form a candy surprise in six custards.

Use this proportion: Combine 4 beaten eggs, ½ cup sugar and ¼ teaspoon salt. Slowly pour 3 cups scalded milk into egg mixture, stirring constantly. Add 1½ teaspoons vanilla. Pour over finely chopped candy in custard cups. Place cups in a shallow pan of hot water and bake at 325 degrees for 45 minutes, or until knife inserted near edge comes out clean.

Stock Market Registers First Advance Of Week

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—The stock market made its first advance of the week on average today in fair turnover.

The market was ahead at the time President Eisenhower's State of the Union message was released and this had little apparent effect on prices.

Pivotal issues rose fractions to around 2 points or so.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 70 cents to $181.90 with the industrials up $1.00, the rails up 90 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Of 1,178 issues traded, gains outnumbered losses by 630 to 298. There were 34 new 1956-'57 highs against 11 new lows.

Volume totaled 2,470,000 shares compared with 2,330,000 yesterday.

Ventures-Camaguey was up 1 1/2 at 13 1/2 on 32,400 shares. Second most active was General Motors, off 1/4 at 42 1/2 on 31,500. Third was Champion Paper, up 1 1/2 at 34 1/2.

Next came Raytheon, up 3/4 at 19 1/2, and North American Aviation, up 3/4 at 38 1/2.

Of the 15 most active stocks, 13 rose, one declined and one was unchanged.

Opening lead: King of clubs.

The time for optimism at the bridge table is when the outlook is most dim. Many an apparently ironclad contract is susceptible to a killing defense, if only the defenders will maintain hope and look for a way to defeat it.

In today's hand South became declarer at a contract of four spades. The king of clubs was opened and East signaled with the eight. The ace was continued and East completed the echo by playing the six. West knew that declarer could overruff his partner; so he shifted to the singleton diamond. This was taken in dummy and a low spade led to the queen. West won with the ace and continued with the jack of clubs. East made a useless discard, declarer ruffed, extracted trumps, and claimed the remainder.

East's discard on the jack of clubs was rather thoughtless. The nine of spades was of no earthly use to him, and he should have ruffed his partner's good trick with the hope that it might force a high trump and thus develop something for his partner. This play is known colloquially as the "uppercut." It will be seen that the nine of spades would have forced the jack from declarer's hand and would have promoted West's ten to winning rank.

While East missed a chance to excel, West, in our view, was the real culprit. At trick three he should have realized that the only hope to defeat the contract was to take two trump tricks, for the bidding plainly indicates that South holds the ace of diamonds. If East happens by some strange chance to hold that card, nothing can prevent his taking a trick with it. After winning with the ace of clubs, West should continue with a small club. This play will force East to trump, and it will require no great amount of vision to ruff with the nine rather than the seven.

Winter Helps To Set Table

Convenient cans of Spaghetti with Meatballs in Tomato Sauce can be varied. Spoon the Spaghetti with Meatballs into parboiled large yellow onions and bake. A just right dinner is close at hand when the Spaghetti dish is served with large chunks of crusty Italian bread, a green vegetable and fruit dessert.

Set your table with a winter Blustery winds are howling about the roof tops. Your red-nosed stiff toed and "mittened" family members are bound to stomp into the warm, cozy and good smelling kitchen, asking "What's for Dinner, Mom?" Be prepared with handy, convenient cans of spaghetti with meatballs, packed full of hearty, Italian-style spaghetti.

Vary the way of serving spaghetti. Spaghetti stuffed onions are extra tasty. Easy too, just spoon the spaghetti with meatballs into parboiled large yellow onions (or parboiled eggplant or even winter squash). Bake, then serve with large chunks of crusty Italian bread, a green vegetable and fruit dessert.

The sounds of smacking lips will assure you of successful planning... all with convenience foods.

Spaghetti Stuffed Onions

New "Collection"

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—New York museum directors have expressed concern over a "decline in good behavior" and an increase in vandalism by teen-age museum visitors. But the American Museum of Natural History says the situation has brought the museum a new and growing "collection" — knives, powerful shotguns and "zip" guns.

Mrs. Filbert's NEW Margarine

Along The Potomac
by Rep. De Witt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON—The 85th Congress is getting off to a slow start as it attempts to solve organizational problems. Although we have a Republican in the White House it is important to remember that the Democrats organized both Houses and have majorities and chairmanships of Congressional committees.

It is important, too, to remember that all legislation must start anew. All bills introduced in the 84th Congress which failed of passage died within adjournment. No matter how far along a bill was at the close of the last Congress, it must be started all over again. That means reintroduction and new hearings before committees.

On the opening day, for example, I reintroduced my bill to establish the C & O Canal National Park. This bill must go through all of the steps required of new measures, but it does have the advantage of having already been studied by the interested departments of the government. A new bill of mine was dropped in the hopper on the opening day of this Congress amending the Civil Service retirement act to provide annuity increases for retired federal workers. I believe the incomes of our retired government employees should be adjusted to modern living costs. I have also introduced a bill which would provide for adjustment of the legislative jurisdiction exercised by the United States over land in the states used for federal purposes. Enactment of this bill would return jurisdiction over Fort Detrick, for example, to Maryland and grant, among other privileges, the right to vote to citizens in that area.

I plan to press for legislation of importance to the people of the Sixth Maryland District and to urge favorable consideration from committee chairmen.

ON MY CALENDAR: I plan to attend the Annual Touchdown Club Award Dinner on January 12; later that evening Mrs. Hyde and I will join the members at their dance to be held at the Indian Springs Country Club—of the Izaak Walton League. Mrs. Hyde and I will be guests at the annual Congressional dinner of the Maryland Real Estate Association on January 14. I expect to be present as a guest of the Frederick County Fish and Game Association at their annual dinner meeting in Frederick on January 16.

It's Cozy Family Buffet Time

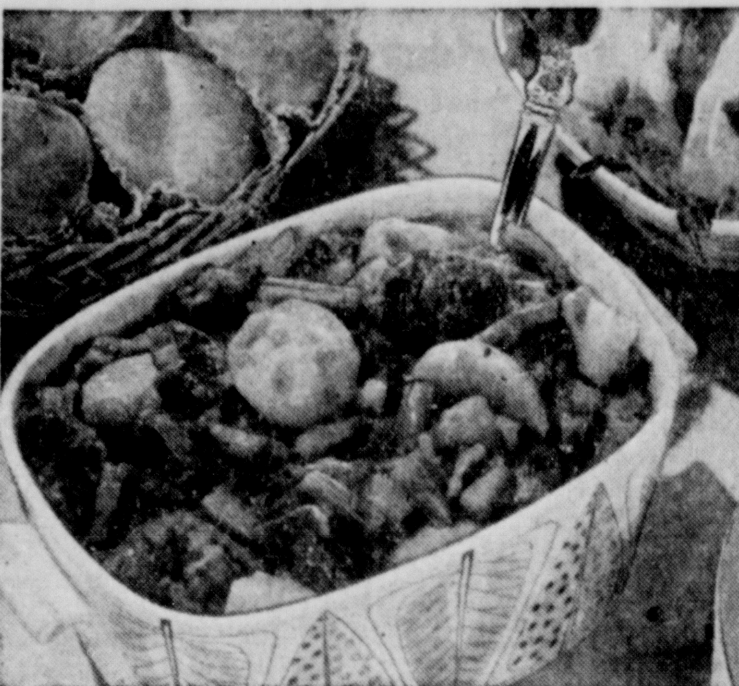

Your family will enjoy a buffet supper planned just for them. It's a welcome change these cold winter nights to have each person serve himself — then find a cozy spot in front of the fire or the TV, or just relax in a favorite chair while eating.

Here is a simple, delicious and easy-to-eat supper. It's planned around lamb stew, seasoned with robust, flavorful condensed onion soup . . . to give the meat and gravy that "please-may-I-have-some-more" taste! Accompany the stew with lettuce and tomato wedges with Russian dressing. And, of course, hot rolls . . . either your own or store bought.

Top off this repast with pineapple upside down cake and coffee or milk. Your family will love you forever.

Onion Lamb Stew

- 1 pound lamb cubes (shoulder breast or neck of lamb)
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 1 can (1 1/4 cups) condensed onion soup
- 1 soup can water
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon marjoram
- 1 pound turnips, peeled and cut in large pieces
- 1 pound potatoes, peeled and cut in large pieces
- 1/2 pound green beans

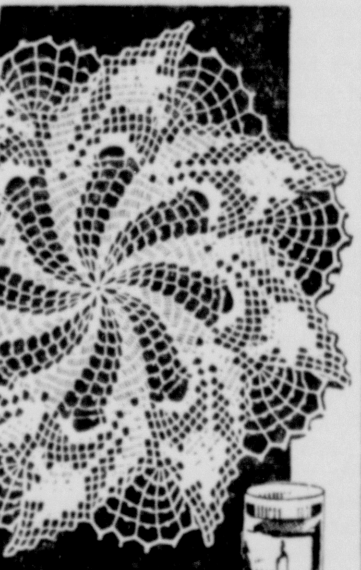

Easy-to-make lamb stew, flavor-enhanced with condensed onion soup and other ingredients, is the main course for a cozy family buffet. Wonderful for a cold winter eve before the fireplace or TV. Along with stew goes pineapple upside-down cake and hot cocoa or coffee.

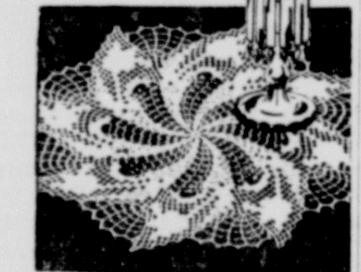

Brown lamb and celery in shortening; add soup, water and seasonings. Cover and cook over low heat for 1 hour; stir occasionally. Add prepared vegetables; cover and cook about 40 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Thicken gravy if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 10 (INS)—I seldom have heard Deborah Kerr more excited about any "motion picture that she is about to make." She is about to make "Separate Tables," which she will make with Laurence Olivier for Hecht-Hill-Lancaster in England this summer.

"I'm changed from the bathing girl routine to play the shy spinster in the second half of 'Separate Tables.' My part is in 'Number 7' and in that Laurence Olivier plays the major. The two Terence Rattigan plays are knit together. Olivier will also direct the second half. He gets here, as you know, the last of February and Terence will be here at the same time.

"I expect to go to London and take the children right after school is out," said Deborah, "to see the family and they will live there while we are making 'Separate Tables' at Pinewood Studios in August."

Certainly glad Charlie Laughton is going to play the role Francis X. Sullivan created in "Witness for the Prosecution." Sullivan was great and Laughton will be just as great.

Arthur Hornblow made a special trip to New York to talk to Charles who is appearing in "Major Barbara" — both directing and acting in it — on Broadway. Charlie will be in mighty good company since the Agatha Christie murder mystery co-stars Tyrone Power and Marlene Dietrich.

In two weeks Fred MacMurray and June Haver take off for the south to beat the drums for "Gun for a Coward," which stars Fred and is a "sleeper."

This, in a way, will be a vacation as well as a business trip, but Fred was told he has to be back the middle of February to start "Decision at Durango," with the same group, Gordon Kay, director, and Al Zugsmith, producer, working with MacMurray. "Decision at Durango" is based on a magazine story by John Cunningham and has the same excitement as "Gun for a Coward," which has rated very good review.

Representing the Turkish government in the filming of "Atatürk," M. Adil Ozkaptah paid me a visit. He said after "Atatürk" is made by U-I in Istanbul he looks to see other pictures also filmed in Turkey.

Mr. Ozkaptah is married to Eleanor Bernstein, a California girl whom he met when he was a student at Stanford. He is a graduate of Stanford and speaks perfect English.

He says President Bayar has asked him to assure Aaron Rosenberg, who will make the picture holdouts against TV, Clark Gable, has been reading a TV script based on "Men in White," a picture that was a boxoffice hit when he appeared in it in 1935.

Grace and Abel Green arrived from Mexico today on their annual visit. He's editor of Variety. Frances Faye, who closed in Las Vegas tonight, opens at Ciro's tomorrow night. It's a return engagement.

Actress Tina Louise and David Wolper are talking serious language in New York.

Ferde Grofe, composer of "Grand Canyon Suite" and other tunes, and his wife, the former Anna Mae Lampton, celebrate their fifth wedding anniversary Saturday by remarrying at the chapel of the New Frontier. That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Valley And Allegany Battle For WMI Lead Tonight

Both Schools Capture Two League Tilts

Fort Hill Visits Beall; Moorefield To Host Piedmont

The leadership of the 37-year-old Western Maryland Interscholastic Basketball League will be a stake tonight when the circuit's only undefeated teams, Valley High's Black Knights and Allegany High's Campers come to grips on the Lonaconing School court at 8 o'clock.

Both teams have won their first two starts. Valley taking the measure of Fort Hill, 60-48, and Mt. Savage, 69-52, while Allegany took the opener from Mt. Savage, 85-61, and squeezed out a 65-64 decision over previously unbeaten Beall on Tuesday night, 65-64. Tonight's game could be another one of those photo finishes like the Beall-AHS battle.

AHS Swept 1956 Series

Valley won the county and state Class "B" titles last season but dropped a pair to the Campers, 69-59 here and 50-49 on the Valley court.

Valley's last victory over Allegany was recorded on January 14, 1955 when the Knights tripped the Campers in "Coney by the score of 58-53. Coach Walter L. Bowers' last team at Campobello, however, won the return game at home, 77-60.

Jim Roby and Joe Stanislawczyk will officiate in tonight's feature league game which should draw a capacity crowd.

Sentinels Visit Beall

Beall High, which proved on Tuesday that it has all the earmarks of a championship contender, plays host to Fort Hill's Sentinels tonight in the Mountain City where Clifton Van Roby and John Fox will direct court traffic.

The Sentinels, defeated in their first two league starts, will be striving to shake a four-game losing streak but Beall looks a bit too tough for Major Cavanaugh's aggregation which is winless in six outings against high school competition.

Mt. Savage, another two-time loser in W.M.I. competition, entertains the Bruce High tonight and Coach John Thomas figures his Indians can muzzle the Bulldogs in this one. "Moose" Arnone and Jack Burner will do the whistling in this contest.

LaSalle High School's Explorers are idle tonight and do not see action again until next Tuesday at Hyndman.

Lions At Moorefield

Six games are on tap in the Potomac Valley Conference tonight with Piedmont at Moorefield, Keyser at Elk Garden and Petersburg at Romney being the standout battles. Piedmont is undefeated in four league games and can take over the top berth with another victory. Elk Garden, defeated in four of its first five games, has bagged four in a row and could give Keyser trouble.

In other P.V.C. tests Fort Ashby is at Ridgeley, Wardensville at Capon Bridge and Franklin at Mathias.

Open League Season

Hyndman High's Hornets launch their campaign in the newly formed four-school Bedford County League by meeting Everett at Hyndman tonight. Chestnut Ridge is at Bedford High for the other league opener.

Southern's Highlanders face Parsons High's Panthers at Oakland, Northern High's Huskies invade Oldtown to play Ronnie Kellough's Indians, Bayard High is host to Harman, Ed Supak's Mountaineer High floormen of Thomas battle the Indians of Circleville High at the latter place, Hedgesville is at Berkeley Springs and Ramer High, Martinsburg, visits Sanders High at Moorefield.

Berkeley Seeks 8th

Berkeley Springs, one of the two undefeated quints in the tri-state area, will be shooting for victory No. 8 when it locks horns with Coach Charles Spencer's Eagles from Berkeley county.

Coach Homer Brooks' Frederick Cadets, unbeaten in five starts, tackle Mel Henry's North Hagerstown quint in a C.V.A.L. contest in the Hub City tonight. Martinsburg is scheduled to play Paul Flick's South Hagerstown cagers also in Hagerstown.

The won and lost records of the C.V.A. League teams are as follows:

North Hagerstown 2-0, Frederick 1-0, Martinsburg 1-1 and Fort Hill 0-3.

It was announced last night by J. William Marker, principal of Fort Ashby High School and director of the three-day tourney.

Shepherd Loses, Negroes Barred

Rams Bow, 78-70

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 10 (AP)—Shepherd College of Shepherds, town, W. Va., dropped a 78-70 basketball decision tonight to Norfolk William and Mary in a game in which the losers were not permitted to play two Negroes.

Tess Riggelman, Shepherd coach, was informed early this afternoon by Coach Bud Metheny of Norfolk W&M that the two Negro members of the visiting Rams' team would not be allowed to play.

The Shepherd coach was ready to leave the decision to his squad whether to go ahead with the game, but the Negro players suggested the team play. The Negroes are William Grant, regular center, and Paul Williams, a freshman.

Grant played against the Apprentice School at Newport News last night, scoring 13 points in an 89-78 Shepherd victory.

The Virginia General Assembly last year prohibited integrated athletics in the state's public high schools, but the law does not apply to colleges. Norfolk W&M is a State-supported institution.

Basilio Convinces Boxing Solons His Hand Is Injured

CLEVELAND, Jan. 10 (AP)—Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio convinced the Cleveland Boxing Commission today that his right hand is too tender to throw at Johnny Saxton's jaw here Jan. 18.

Matchmaker Larry Atkins, who had peddled some $50,000 worth of tickets for the 15-round title bout, said he would try to reschedule it for Friday, Feb. 22 at the Cleveland Arena. Meanwhile, Atkins said, he will round up a substitute card for Jan. 18.

Basilio said in Syracuse last night that his hand was bruised from a training injury and he wanted a postponement of the bout with Saxton, from whom he regained the crown in Syracuse last Sept. 12.

"Why fight with one hand?" Basilio asked. "I want to be in perfect condition when I fight for the championship."

That attitude made sense to the Cleveland Boxing Commission, before whom Basilio appeared at noon today and whose physician inspected the injured fist.

"It is our responsibility to see that the contestants are physically perfect," said Dave Ott, commission chairman.

Carter And Baker Fight At Garden

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—Harold Carter, 22, ambitious heavyweight contender, today was favored to rack up his fourth straight victory at the expense of Bob Baker, 30, the lethargic Pittsburgh giant at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

Purely on the strength of Carter's driving ambition against Baker's complacency, Carter, from Linden, N.J., has been made the 9-5 choice over the one-time leading contender.

Carter saw Hurricane Tommy Jackson hustle his way to two decisions over the 6-2, 215-pounder from the Pittsburgh Steel mills, and Harold is no dummy. Baker will be up against a crowding fighter ready to toss leather a full three minutes each round unless he gets tagged in a hurting fashion.

Baker once was able to do something. Whether he still can will be answered in the Garden ring at 10 p. m. (EST) for the nationally televised and broadcast NBC 10-rounder.

Physical Fitness Stressed In Program Set Up By NCAA

Draftee Rejections Of Grave Concern, Hamilton Declares

By JIM SCOTT

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 10 (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association tonight announced a 16-point plan to combat what President Eisenhower has called "serious deficiencies of fitness in American youth."

The program was drawn up by a special committee headed by the University of Pittsburgh's athletic director, Tom Hamilton, at the NCAA's 51st annual convention in St. Louis.

Meeting in connection with the president's request to do something about American youth programs, Hamilton declared:

"We are firmly convinced that the responsibility in this field is the most critical of any the NCAA and other fitness agencies have yet faced."

Hamilton referred to "the disgraceful rejection rate" of American draftees in both the first and second world wars and added that his committee expressed grave concern that there has been no "noticeable improvement."

At today's meeting, the committee outlined a program to implement a national youth fitness program. The report said that 9 per cent of America's elementary schools do not have gymnasiums. The committee made these six recommendations:

1. The NCAA do everything possible to see that an adequate proportion of funds, where provided by local, state or federal governments, be allocated for athletic, recreational and physical education facilities.

2. Urged that every NCAA member institution and conference increase the number of sports being conducted on the intercollegiate and intra-mural level rather than concentrate on the major sports.

3. Advocated establishment of a four-year required physical education course in all colleges.

4. Proposed that all element-

Charles Town Asks For Jan. 26-Feb. 16 Racing Dates

Purse Agreement Required Before Ban Will Be Lifted

Horsemen's Group Will Confer With Owner A. J. Boyle

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 10.—The West Virginia Racing Commission agreed today to lift its ban on racing at the Charles Town half-mile track—providing the horse owners and the track could agree on the purses.

The commission previously denied a Charles Town request for December dates on grounds the track had violated a commission rule that purses must amount to at least four per cent of the money bet.

The track reapplied for racing dates from Jan. 26 through Feb. 16.

Commission Chairman John F. Ambrose said after today's closed meeting that the new request was granted "subject to mutual agreement by the Charles Town Turf Club (operators of the track) and the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Assn."

John A. Manfuso, chairman of the HBPA's national purse committee said representatives of his association would meet with A.J. Boyle, top track official, and "if he acts in good faith, I see no reason why an amicable settlement cannot be arranged."

The commission also approved racing dates from May 11-June 5, July 10-Sept. 14, and Oct. 26-Nov. 23—providing the track obtain approval of the District Federal Court. The track presently is in receivership. A previous request by Wheeling Downs was turned down by Federal Judge Harry E. Watkins.

Before it approved the dates, the commission listened to strong criticism from Senate President Ralph J. Bean, Moorefield Democrat, about its refusal to let Charles Town race last month.

Bean, one of seven legislators who sat in at the two-hour open meeting, said the commission has "alarmed those of us who conduct the affairs of this state."

Afterward, he told newsmen: "We only need three good men to administer racing in West Virginia." He said legislative leaders would recommend that Gov.-elect Underwood, who will be sworn in Monday, appoint an attorney as one of the members of the commission.

The Senate president's sharp remarks prompted reports from Roy Graham of Huntington, the Republican commission member. During their discussion, talk of investigating West Virginia racing came up.

Maryland Delighted?

"Maryland is delighted in our confusion," Bean told the commission. "You have alarmed those of us who conduct the affairs of this state. We are interested in seeing the state's financial income from this industry restored."

Let's Go Skiing

CLIMBING

CLIMBING: Short steps are taken sideways up slope. Top edges of skis bite into snow. Lower pole supports body, upper pole must be kept out of the way.

THERE are three methods used to climb with skis. None of them is too difficult to learn if done correctly.

SIDE STEP CLIMBING is exactly what it says, taking steps sideways up the hill. Place the body in a position so that the skis face horizontally across the slope and put pressure on the upper edge of the parallel skis to keep from sliding.

Lift the upper ski and step up hill. The width of the step is determined by the amount of pitch to the slope. Put full body weight on this ski and bring the lower ski up beside the other ski, maintaining pressure on the upper edges at all times.

Keep the upper pole out of your path and help push your weight up with the lower one.

DIAGONAL SIDE STEP is performed as is the side step climbing except the upper ski is moved forward with each step, gaining distance and altitude.

HERRING BONE is used for short, steep ascents. It is performed by pointing the edged skis uphill in a V position, points outward and back ends together. Lift the climbing ski and place it forward firmly in the snow, the back of it clearing the standing ski.

Transfer the body weight to the upper ski and lift the remaining ski forward in the same manner. Keep repeating this step. Use the poles for support, moving them alternately outside and back of the body.

almost abandoned mining town, was a bit of a disappointment. Mixing filmclips of stagecoaches rumbling through the Nevada countryside with live shots of Virginia City's streets and saloons and decaying mansions, Charles Collingwood told the story of the city's short, booming life from 1869 to the early 1900s when the silver ran out, and shortly thereafter, the people followed.

There were vignettes about the Gross brothers, who first discovered the presence of silver (everyone else was looking for gold) and who were engulfed by disaster; about Comstock, whose name undevotedly adorned the greatest of all silver mines and who committed suicide, of the passing of Julia Bulette, the town's leading madame, for whose funeral the saloons closed for the only time in history; of Sandy Bowers and his wife who drew a quarter of a million dollars out of the bank for a trip to Europe.

Virginia City is picturesque and colorful enough. God knows, to supply a dozen hour-long programs with material. Somehow, though, it didn't come off. The transitions from live narration to filmed or staged vignettes were a little too abrupt; some of the acting in the little vignettes of barroom brawls or mine disasters was pretty bad; some of the recreations, such as Beatrice Kay singing the old songs went on too long and seemed disproportionate to their importance whereas other bits such as how education came to Virginia City at the point of a gun seemed too short.

"Odyssey" plans to use all types of production techniques—fine grained woods ordinarily are capable of taking a high all live, all film or any combination.

The Whole World Around Us

"Odyssey," according to its advance notices, will attempt to dramatize the "wondrous occurrences of man's discovery of the world around him" utilizing "history's heroes and villains as its cast." A sweeping promise—and that's not all.

"Odyssey" will explore all man's experiences in the world, including his studies that hinge on archeology, agriculture, anthropology, chemistry, art, literature, music, geology, zoology, industry, medicine metaphysics. It will touch on all of man's interests," declared a CBS drumbeater eloquently.

"During its first season, the show will penetrate the watery grave of wrecked Spanish galleons off the Florida coast, the art treasures of the Louvre, a secret Haitian voodoo ritual, the preparations of an ancient Egyptian for the world after death, a peek into the 2,000-year-old diary of a Roman G. I., a trip back through the evolution of jazz from the field music of the South, a ride with the old West's Pony Express, and a look at the history of the circus."

That is an imposing prospectus and a wonderfully ambitious schedule all right, and before we get any further, I think CBS ought to be congratulated for dreaming such large, unsponsored dreams. However there's no blinking the fact that the first show last Sunday (CBS-TV 4 p.m. EST), which was a recreation of Virginia City, a fabled and now

House Passes Car Check Bill, 90-19

Billboard Measure Introduced

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 10 (AP)—The House of Delegates for the third straight year called today for an annual inspection of all motor vehicles in Maryland.

The Senate has balked the past two years at requiring the mechanical testing. The system proposed by the House is inspection costing $1.50 by private garage supervised by State Police.

Housing Project Change Likely As Adjustment

SRC Bridge Plan Causes Overlap

An adjustment will have to be made between plans of the State Roads Commission for an Industrial Boulevard bridge over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks and the proposals for the third housing project of the Cumberland Housing Authority, it was learned last night.

Originally it was planned that the approach to the bridge would parallel the B&O tracks behind the Cumberland Macaroni Manufacturing Company factory. The expansion of the B&O yards eliminated that plan.

Then it was decided that the approach to the bridge would have to be east of the macaroni plant because condemnation of the factory would be too costly.

This approach overlaps one 20-house unit in the proposed housing project which is to be constructed in the area bounded by Oldtown Road, Thomas Street, Cresap Street and Hemlock Alley.

The Housing Authority already has acquired 36 of the 38 properties needed for this project.

Church Passes 1957 Budget Of $76,000

Members of St. Luke's Evangelical Lutheran Church, taking note of tripled attendance and quadrupled contributions in the past two years, approved a $76,000 budget this week and selected an architect for a new church building.

The 1957 budget includes an addition to the building fund, and provides for employment of a parish secretary. The budget was approved at the annual congregational meeting Wednesday night.

T. Norman Mansell of Philadelphia, internationally known church architect, has been retained to design the new church building, which is expected to be started sometime in 1958.

The new building, to be erected on a lot next door to the present church at Bedford and Columbia streets, will seat 500. The present building, which seats 625, will be used as an educational and Sunday church school building.

Edward Eichner, chairman of the education and evangelism committee, reported that since 1955, 265 new members have joined the congregation, attendance has tripled, and contributions have quadrupled at $70,000 in 1956.

Dr. Norman Barger, monitoring chairman for the building fund, reported that $81,000 of the pledged $175,000 has been collected since the fund drive began in July, 1955. Other reports on building plans were given by William Armbruster, Mrs. Eugene Hilton, Coit Speicher and Louis Spoerl.

Three men were elected to three-year terms on the rotating church council. They are Mr. Eichner, elder; William Smith and Robert L. Smith, deacons, and Charles Hartung, trustee.

The congregation unanimously adopted a resolution presented by the church council commending Rev. William R. Snyder, pastor, for his work in the past two years. The resolution noted that major accomplishments during Pastor Snyder's tenure included increased giving and membership, the building fund drive, establishment of a kindergarten, daily vacation Bible school and a Lutheran leadership training school, purchase and improvement of a church parking lot, and establishment of a church library.

B&O Freight Wreck Blocks Main Lines

36 Cars Derailed At Indian Creek

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad traffic on the Pittsburgh Division, detoured over Western Maryland tracks from Bowest to Ohio for about 15 hours, returned to its own tracks yesterday afternoon as part of a 36-car freight train wreck was cleared away.

The second major freight train pileup the B&O had experienced in a little over a week, it occurred at Indian Creek, Pa., seven miles east of Connellsville.

The westbound fast freight was hauling limestone from Cumberland to Pittsburgh. Cause of the derailment had not been determined last night, but officials said much track was torn up and some of the heavily loaded cars tumbled into the Youghiogheny River. No one was reported injured.

Cumberland Division spokesmen last night said rail traffic delayed by the wreck and by routing over the Western Maryland's lines, had returned to near normal last night. No. 22, a passenger train from the west which arrives here around 3 p. m., was the first passenger train to pass the wreck on its own tracks.

It arrived here only a little behind schedule, the dispatcher's office reported. This indicated a line had been cleared past or around the wreck.

Main line tracks were blocked at the scene and wreck crews and work trains from Cumberland, Pittsburgh, Connellsville and Somerset were dispatched to help with the cleanup. They were still at the scene last night.

The cars which derailed were reported near the end of the train. The caboose, engine and other cars in the train did not derail. W. G. Brown, LaVale, was conductor on the freight, and J. B. Darree, Connellsville, was the engineer.

The fees were supposed to go up $5 to $8 in 1954 as part of the 12-year road improvement program. However, the Legislature each year has postponed them.

Sens. Malkus (D-Dorchester), Nock (D-Wicomico) and Friend (R-Garrett) are out to wipe the scheduled increases completely off the books. They believe the roads commission has enough money from other sources to carry on the 12-year program.

The Senate, with some open reservations by a few members, gave tentative approval to an emergency bill to plug a 1½ million dollar loophole in the state sales and use tax.

The vote to adopt a favorable report on the measure by the Senate Finance Committee was 22 to 4, with Sens. Della (D-Balto 6th), James (D-Harford), North (D-Talbot) and Shipley (D-Howard) voting against.

The bill, favored by the comptroller and governor, spells out legislative intent that the use tax should be applied to machinery and equipment bought by Marylanders for out-of-state orders although that equipment is later resold to the customer.

It would be retroactive to the inauguration of the sales tax, 1947, to guarantee the state not having to pay refunds on tax it has already collected.

Sen. Della Demurs

Sen. Della told members he objected in principle to two features in the bill: Making it retroactive and specifying that it has always been legislative intent that the comptroller collected such taxes.

"I don't think we're qualified to say what the 1947 General Assembly intended," he said. "It's a bad bill and I've got to vote against it."

The Senate plans to take the measure up again tomorrow when more amendments will be offered to it, but it has already cleared its first major test toward passage.

The Senate passed and sent to the House two Legislative Council bills dealing with prison farms. One would enable county commissioners or county councils to establish such farms. The other would include Baltimore City jails and county prison farms in the inspection and improvement programs of the State Board of Correction.

The first two bills and three resolutions to clear both Houses were enacted by the House today. The two bills going to Gov. McKeldin would include handicapped children of school age in the school census and give the commissioner of personnel more discretion in advertising state jobs.

Kelly Plant Warehouse Roof Falls

Heavy Rainfall Blamed For Damage

Wednesday's heavy rainfall was blamed by officials of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company for collapse yesterday morning of a portion of the unfinished roof of the plant's new $400,000 warehouse now nearing completion.

Reports being circulated around the city yesterday afternoon that the roof had been blown off by yesterday's heavy wind were denied by company officials.

A spokesman said the heavy rain laid on the flat roof overnight and collapsed, sending a deluge of water over part of the building. There was no report of any injury.

Employees of the John I. Vandegrift Company, which began construction of the warehouse last spring, immediately began repairing the damage. There was no immediate estimate of the damage.

It was reported that the company had received permission from insurance underwriters to begin using a portion of the warehouse beginning next Monday. These plans will have to be deferred now.

Completion of the warehouse had been scheduled for mid-February but the roof collapse may delay the job at least one week.

Pay Increase For Sheriff Being Sought

A bill to increase the salary of the sheriff of Allegany County by $800 a year has been introduced by State Senator Charles M. See.

The proposal, which was dropped into the Senate hopper on Wednesday, would become effective after the next election.

The post now pays $4,000 a year, the Senator said.

The sheriff's salary was neglected, he said, when the pay of most elected officials was boosted in 1953.

Legislative action is needed, he added, since the sheriff's salary is fixed by statute.

Senator See said he will introduce the LaVale zoning proposal today or Monday.

The bill is now being prepared for introduction by the Department of Legislative Reference, which has promised to try to have it ready for today or definitely by Monday.

He said a hearing will be held on LaVale zoning, or any other local bill, if a hearing is requested.

He said the question of a hearing is out of the hands of county legislators if a bill has gone to committee, but that in this case, he or the Delegation will attempt to get the chairman of the committee to grant a hearing when and if requested.

Members of the board told Mr. Shafer he would have to modify plans to conform with zoning regulations regarding side yards, since the lot has a 61-foot frontage.

Mr. Shafer now operates the Shafer Motor Parts firm at 138 Frederick Street.

The board granted the permit by unanimous action after James A. Perrin, local realtor, testified the lot has been used for various businesses since 1918.

Appearing against the permit was Benjamin W. O'Rourke, a member of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission, who suggested the rezoning of Frederick Street after questioning the board's right to grant a permit for a business in a Residential B area.

The lot adjoins East Side Fire Station and is separated from a gas station only by Linden Street.

Teachers Begin County-Wide Survey Of Commercial Education In Schools

A committee of teachers met yesterday afternoon at the Allegany County Board of Education building to make arrangements for a county-wide survey of commercial education in the high schools.

Assistant Superintendent Richard T. Rizer, who directed the meeting, said each of the 23 counties in Maryland is conducting a similar survey. They will be coordinated into a state-wide survey.

Meeting with Mr. Rizer and Lewyn C. Davis, supervisor of junior high schools in the county

Health Official Outlines Waste Program Plans

Another Meeting At Luke Today

Thomas W. Shives, public health engineer of the State Department of Health, met last night with Westernport and Luke officials in connection with the possible municipal use of a projected waste treatment plant at Luke mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Last night's meeting was called by Mayor Okey Michael of Westernport, who presided.

Mr. Shives pointed out that the State Health Department has no funds available for assisting the two communities in sewage plant work.

However, if plans are drawn up the department would supervise them in order to protect the health of the residents of the two communities.

Mr. Shives said the communities could borrow up to $2,500 for preliminary engineering work from a federal agency. Should the plans not materialize the $2,500 would have to be repaid.

If a grant is allowed, the federal government would allow 30 percent of the cost of the project. This amount would include the funds necessary for the preliminary engineering work.

Mr. Shives told the town officials that this year Maryland is allotted $750,000 for such projects, while the nation is allowed $50,000,000 annually.

The amount of grants is based on population and income figures. Such grants are made only to municipalities and not to companies, particularly to smaller communities.

Another meeting on the project is being scheduled for 10 a. m. today in Luke, where the paper mill officials will meet with Mr. Shives and the mayors and councils of the Tri-Towns.

Attending last night's meeting were Mayor Michael, Councilmen Morris Brundage, Ray L. Wilt and Leo Herbert of Westernport, Mayor Edward Duckworth and Councilmen Avelino Diaz, Luther Crites Sr., and Thomas Haywood of Luke.

Plans For GOP Inauguration Special Dropped

Allegany County's Inaugural special will not roll.

James S. Getty, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, said plans for the special B&O train were canceled, since not enough people signed up on time to justify completing plans for the special train.

With equipment in short supply, the railroad had to make plans well in advance in order to schedule the special.

Mr. Getty said all money paid by those who made reservations will be promptly refunded by the Inaugural committee.

He said the Allegany County delegation will be on hand for the inauguration just the same, but members will have to make individual arrangements for transportation and seats.

Crash Victim Improved

Reuben Clapper, 81-year-old Hyndman man who was injured Wednesday in an automobile accident near Hyndman, was reported to be "much improved" last night at Memorial Hospital.

Clapper's son, Aubrey E. Clapper, was fatally injured in the crash.

Tax Hearing May Go Into Next Week

State Witnesses Will Be Called

The tax appeal case of the Western Maryland Railway Company vs the Board of Public Works of the State of West Virginia, underway all this week in Mineral County Circuit Court Keyser, will probably extend into next week, it was indicated yesterday.

The case, two appeals from 1954 and 1955 assessments of 13 and 15 million dollars respectively, is the third such appeal to come before Judge Ernest A. See.

The railroad contends its assessments in the state are too high, do not take into consideration the rugged mountainous territory over which the property extends, and the heavy cost of operation and maintenance, and that the rates are not on a par with other railroads operating within the state.

Attorneys on both sides yesterday afternoon indicated the case cannot be concluded today, and Judge See said they can continue next week, despite the opening of the regular term of Mineral County Circuit Court.

May Be Speeded Up

Judge See last night said that if testimony and arguments cannot be completed today and Monday, he will make arrangements to charge the grand jury, get the term of court started, and then continue with the tax hearing.

There is a possibility, however, that attorneys can speed up their arguments and additional testimony so that the appeal hearing could be completed Monday.

Testimony is yet to be taken, attorneys noted, from tax experts who will appear for the State of West Virginia.

Yesterday, Dr. James Martin, Lexington, Ky., a tax appraisal expert formerly associated with the Kentucky Tax Department, was called but remained on the stand only a short time. He was excused until this morning because of a pressing engagement in Washington. He said he would return this morning in time to offer his testimony for the railway.

Auditor Called

J. C. Higgins, auditor from Charleston, W. Va., was called as a first witness for the state. He explained his examination of the state's exhibits and figures.

C. M. Chapman, a tax commission director who has handled details on railroad, electric power, gas company and other utility taxes was called as a state witness. His testimony, too, dealt with figures and technical details of the assessments.

The state has several other witnesses to appear.

Paul Holland, assistant comptroller for the Western Maryland, testified again yesterday morning. He outlined assessments of other railroads for comparison purposes and mentioned the West Virginia properties of the Baltimore & Ohio at $79,000,000; Chesapeake and Ohio holdings assessed at $103,500,000; Norfolk and Western, $75,500,000; and the Virginian Railroad, $35,000,000.

Eugene S. Williams, chairman of the board of directors of the railway, is chief counsel for the company and Robert Magnusen, assistant attorney general of the state of West Virginia, is attorney for the Board of Public Works.

Stern Resumes Phone Duties Here

James W. Stern Jr., LaVale Court, has resumed his duties as central office foreman for the telephone company here, according to Robert G. Garner, local manager.

Mr. Stern was assigned to Hagerstown during the dial conversion program there.

Frank Root, who has been serving as central office foreman here for about six months during Mr. Stern's temporary assignment, has returned to Hagerstown, where he will serve as service foreman.

Two Brought Here For Novel Hearing

Edward William Clark, 16, of the Lonaconing area, and Albert Theodore Rockwell, 19, of this city, were brought to the Allegany County Jail yesterday for a novel hearing in Circuit Court at 10:30 a. m. today.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris will be asked to determine whether the two still are defective delinquents and should remain at the institution, where they have been inmates for more than a year.

Clark got a sentence not to exceed five years in the Maryland Reformatory on a charge of assault with intent to commit rape in October 1955. Rockwell drew a term not to exceed three years in the Reformatory in December of the same year. They were brought here by Al Ingram, a custodial officer at the Patuxent Institution, who is a native of this city.

Dr. Bolyard Named To Kiwanis Board

Dr. Richard Bolyard, local dentist, was elected to the board of directors of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club yesterday afternoon.

He succeeds Bernard G. Renz, who is resigning because he is being promoted to a new job in Baltimore.

Police Seeking Information On Missing Woman

A 39-year-old local woman has been missing from her home since a month ago yesterday, and City Police who have been checking leads in her disappearance are seeking information as to her whereabouts.

She is Mrs. Ressie Jane Propst of 309 Grand Avenue, who was reported missing from her home by a sister, Mrs. Hattie Collins, 326 Virginia Avenue.

Police were notified of her disappearance on December 10. City Police Detective Lt. James E. Van said yesterday that Mrs. Propst was last seen at the Post Office in South Cumberland about 10 a. m. on that day.

When last seen she was wearing a blue print dress, rust-colored corduroy coat and loafer-type shoes.

The missing woman is five feet, two inches tall and weighs 130 pounds, according to Lt. Van, who said she had been reported missing from her home earlier in December, but had returned.

Anyone having any information as to the whereabouts of the missing woman is asked to contact local authorities. The telephone number of her sister's home on Virginia Avenue is Pa 2-2632.

Fund Drive For Polio Is Progressing

Progress in organizing the annual March of Dimes drive in this county is evidenced by the activity at the Allegany League for Crippled Children Headquarters.

Miss Henrietta Lippold, executive director, reported yesterday that coin cards have been distributed to all schools, and 10 addition, 16,000 mailers are being dispatched to county residents.

She gave special credit to members of the Century Club, LaVale, Algonquin Chapter, National Secretaries Association, Jaycees; Women's Civic Club; Tau Phi Lambda Sorority; Girl Scout Troop 12; Boy Scouts of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, and a number of individuals who volunteered to address the pleas for contributions.

On January 11 and 12, members of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, will sell peanuts for the March of Dimes fund. On January 19, Moose lodges in Cumberland and Frostburg will sell "Blue Crutches" to raise a part of the fund.

A balloon sale is also to be sponsored by girls of Fort Hill and Allegany high schools.

Mrs. Lester McGill, chairman, and Mrs. Elizabeth Nave, co-chairman of the Mothers March, are organizing volunteers for this phase of the campaign, and indicate that leaders in every section of the county are working steadily to complete the organization. The Mothers March is scheduled for Tuesday, March 29.

Hearing Slated On Recreation Plan For Area

Senator See Calls Meeting January 17

Plans for a hearing on a proposal to establish additional recreation areas in Western Maryland were announced yesterday by State Senator Charles M. See.

He said the hearing will be held Thursday, January 17, at 3 p. m. in Senate Room 1 in Annapolis.

Invited to attend the hearing are Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the Department of Forests and Parks; Ernest A. Vaughn, director of the Department of Game and Inland Fish; I. Alvin Pasarew, director of the State Planning Commission, and all legislators from Garrett, Washington and Allegany counties.

Also invited to testify is the State CIO's Committee for Aid to Distressed Areas, which has advocated the creation of new recreation areas in this county, and various federal officials, including those of the Department of the Interior.

Senator See said the development of additional recreational facilities in Maryland's western counties could add significantly to the economic resources of this area and the entire state of Maryland.

Recreation is a profitable business, he said, and if it had not been an important source of new money, other states, such as Pennsylvania and West Virginia, would not have gone into it.

He added he hopes the hearing will show the need for additional recreational areas in Allegany County.

What is needed, he said, is a definite program and a goal. He added that he hopes the program can be developed to the point where Maryland motorists can find the facilities they want without leaving the Free State.
